THREAT OF RAIL STRIKE UNEASED

Jews Attack Arab Base

Strive To Open Vital Highway To Jerusalem

Commandos Assault Enemy-Held Heights

JERUSALEM, May 9 (AP)—Jewish sources said tonight 500 Haganah commandos began an attack at sunset on Arab strongholds in another attempt to open the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway.

The Jewish militia soldiers, the sources said, assaulted Arab-held heights overlooking Bab El Wad and launched an attack on the Arab village of Beit Mashir, 10 miles west of Jerusalem and one of the Arabs' most important bases in the Judean hills area.

Beit Mashir is two miles south of the highway and is the chief base for Arabs who have choked off the road with gunposts, mines, craters and roadblocks.

The Haganah force had been moving into position for two days along the entire length of the Jewish-held section of the highway, which is the only route of supplies from the coast for Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews. The British army reported Friday that strong reinforcements had been seen entering Jewish positions along the highway.

Ambulances Ready

A large number of Jewish-owned ambulances were station at one Jewish police billet between Jerusalem and Bab El Wad.

Jews and Arabs received draft proposals of the Jerusalem truce terms tonight from Sir Alen Cunningham, the British High Commissioner for Palestine. The proposals were drawn up by the Palestine government after talks with leaders of both warring factions.

Meanwhile, Jacques De Reynier, representative here for the International Red Cross, met with Cunningham today and proposed taking the entire city under Red Cross protection when the British mandate ends next Friday midnight.

Jerusalem was quiet today under the cease fire order effected yesterday. Both sides accused the other of breaking the truce, but no shots were heard in the city.

The meeting at which De Reynier offered the city Red Cross protection also was attended by the three members of the United Nations Truce Commission, made up of the consuls of the United States, France and Belgium.

Cunningham said the Palestine government would agree to the Red Cross plan if a formal proposal were made. He said the plan "is fully compatible with the government's own efforts to secure peace in Jerusalem."

Ibn Saud Promises Aid

At Amman, King Abdullah, of Trans-Jordan, disclosed receipt of a telegram from King Ibn Saud promising Saudi Arabian troops. It said Ibn Saud had placed "all my armies at your disposal for the fight in Palestine."

In Baghdad, the Premiers of Syria and Lebanon announced King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia had pledged his support—including military aid—in the fight against the Jews in Palestine.

Diad El Solh, of Lebanon, and Jamil Mardam Bey, of Syria, had conferred in Riyadh, the Arabian capital, with Ibn Saud. Popular sentiment in Lebanon and Syria was said to favor sending troops into Palestine immediately, but the

Decision Due This Week On Europe Military Policies

Two Measures Are Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall and Sen. Vandenberg (R - Mich) are expected to decide this week on the last two pieces of foreign policy legislation which Congress may be asked to pass this session. They are part of the effort to promote and protect the revival of non-Communist Europe.

The two measures, which have been under careful consideration by Marshall, Vandenberg and other Republican and administration leaders, are these:

1. A resolution to record Congress in favor of the use of United Nations regional defense systems for the political strengthening and military protection of Western Europe and

Authority For Truman

2. Temporary authority for President Truman during the congressional recess to provide arms and military equipment on a small scale to any Marshall Plan country needing them.

Both of these pieces of legislation are regarded by foreign policy makers as intended to advance the new grand design of American policy toward Europe. It has been slowly taking shape for several months and may be given final form at the next session of Congress—after the elections.

This overall pattern, according to present tentative plans, may require not one, but two new United Nations regional organizations. One would be a Western European defense system which has already been started and which in the American view should be aimed at producing a United States of Europe. It would be a limited "Atlantic Alliance" through which the United States would throw its protection over the new Western European League.

Aimed At Third Power

These long-range objectives, as viewed by some of Secretary Marshall's advisers, are frankly aimed at interposing a "third power" between the United States and Russia. The existence of this independent third power five or 10 years from now, responsible American leaders hope, may end the grand spectacle of American and Soviet forces directly pitted against each other in a world devoid of any other great concentration of strength.

Marshall said that American military strength needs to be revived to restore the "balance of power" relationships necessary to restore international security. He admitted in the same testimony the failure of the United Nations to provide the security it was supposed to create.

Negro, Preaching From Roof, Fights Off Cops, Firemen

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP) — Prancing and preaching from a rooftop, a negro today fought off police and firemen who sought to get him down and kicked one of them from a fire ladder.

Some 1,000 spectators watched as Fire Battalion Chief Lorenz A. Dolle was tossed 25 feet to the ground. His condition at Johns Hopkins Hospital was described as "very critical."

The "preacher," who grew increasingly hysterical during his prolonged harangue, was identified by police as 39-year-old William Lane.

It took four more policemen, firemen, and several spectators to get Lane to the street.

Jerusalem Mayor Agreement Near

LAKE SUCCESS, May 9—(AP)—A Jewish-Arab agreement appeared near today on a neutral commissioner to act as mayor of Jerusalem when the British end their rule Friday night.

Despite strict secrecy surrounding negotiations here, it was learned that at least one prominent resident of Jerusalem had been accepted by both Arab and Jewish representatives.

Andrew Cordier, executive assistant to United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie, said any announcement regarding the naming of the proposed commissioner will be made in Jerusalem by the British High Commissioner for Palestine.

Cordier has been conducting the negotiations by passing names back and forth between the Jewish and Arab representatives.

A Jewish Agency spokesman said the agency had notified Cordier the Jews would accept one of three men suggested yesterday by the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine. The spokesman declined to say, however, which one they had approved.

The three men are: A. L. Miller, an American, who is executive-secretry of the UMCA in Jerusalem; A. P. Clark, British head of Barclay's Bank in Jerusalem, and Father Eugene, an Irish Franciscan monk.

In view of the agreement, it appeared an appointment would be made quickly unless the man selected refused to serve.

The proposed commissioner, or mayor, would head a "shadow" city government without any police power and very little authority. His primary duty would be to try to get as much Arab-Jewish co-operation as possible.

Heavy Vote Indicated In Panama's Election

PANAMA, Panama, May 9 (AP)—A heavy vote was indicated today in Panama's first presidential election in eight years. The official count will start tomorrow.

Except for isolated cases of delay, the balloting proceeded normally. Didacio Silvera, president of the National Elections Jury and a member of the opposition, said his office had received complaints the government had arrested several belonging to the opposition in interior towns.

President H. Enrique Adolfo Jimenez said all those arrested had been ordered released. He pointed out the opposition parties have a majority in all electoral corporations.

Plane Dives Into Water

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—A Pan American World Airways Constellation plane returning from a night training flight plunged into the water off La Guardia field early today. The four crew members aboard escaped serious injury and waded ashore.

Two Dixie Demos Spurn Bid To Join Truman Campaign

McClellan, Russell Reject Invitation

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Two southern Democrats added new fuel to the civil rights political revolt today by saying they will not campaign this year for President Truman.

Sens. McClellan (D-Ark) and Russell (D-Ga) said in separate interviews that they are rejecting what McClellan called an invitation from J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, to join in the national party campaign.

McGrath wrote senators a form letter offering to make available to them facilities of the national committee's radio division.

He said this division is "prepared to give you all possible assistance" in getting political speeches ready and putting them on the air. He didn't specify any subject matter.

McClellan's Statement

McClellan told a reporter he intends to reply that:

"It would be inconsistent for me to attempt to defend the record of the present administration when I so violently disagree with on of the most important aspects of the domestic program—that of so-called civil rights legislation."

"Until the leadership of the party repudiates that part of its program," the Arkansas Senator said, "I cannot give support in the nature of public addresses in behalf of the Truman candidacy."

Russell said he intends to ignore the McGrath letter. But he added he has "no intention of campaigning for President Truman so long as he advocates these so-called civil-rights measures."

Their action followed rejection by Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) of an appeal by McGrath to help raise funds for the national campaign.

Southern Democrats Meet

The President's advocacy of anti-Lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-segregation and anti-job discrimination legislation is likely to come in for blistering comment from a meeting of "state's rights" Democrats in Jackson, Miss., tomorrow.

Representatives from 10 southern states are expected at the gathering. Southerners here said there will be talk of forming a southern Democratic Party and of backing someone besides Mr. Truman out, however, apparently is becoming more remote daily. The President now has 423 pledged votes and needs only 195 more to clinch the nomination on the first ballot at the July Philadelphia convention.

Truman Defeat Held Possible

JACKSON, Miss., May 9 (AP) — Gov. Ben Laney, of Arkansas, a leader in the states' rights Democratic movement, expressed belief tonight that the nomination of President Truman can be prevented.

United Europe Step Forward, Churchill Says

Tyranny Denounced By Briton At Parley

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, May 9—(AP)—Winston Churchill said today that a united Europe would permit the continent to take her place as an independent and self-supporting part of a world organization.

Addressing 30,000 persons in Amsterdam's square, Churchill said:

"We are trying to take a step forward, in harmony with our different governments, to revive the old glory of Europe."

He declared a united Europe must be safe from foreign aggression or inroads and added:

"It must be a Europe in which men will be proud to say 'I am an European.' When men of every country will think as much of being an European as of being a citizen of their own country." This he described as "the transformation of the Western World."

Britain's wartime prime minister and leaders from other countries have been participating in an unofficial "Congress of Europe" at The Hague to promote the idea of a democratic federation of European nations. The congress is scheduled to complete its work of preliminary organization tomorrow night.

"Our life ought not to be crushed or flattened out by any kind of totalitarian tyranny, either Nazi, which we cast out, or any other," Churchill said.

"I am not an enemy of any nation. I am not against any race or nation. It is against tyranny that we take our stand. This tyranny presents itself in various forms x x x but whatever liveries it wears, it is always the same and demands that we oppose it.

Churchill spoke from a platform erected on the steps of the royal palace. Seated behind him were many leaders from the countries of Western Europe. Among them were former Premiers Paul Ramadier, Paul Reynaud, and Edouard Daladier of France; Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary; Pieter Kerstens, former Dutch Education Minister, and Dr. Arnold Dailly, Burgomaster of Amsterdam.

Earlier, the Congress' political committee approved a policy of proceeding slowly and carefully in forming a European federation.

Reynaud lost on a proposal assembly by the end of the year.

Two British delegates, R. W. G. Mackay and Harold MacMillan, cautioned against hasty action. Mackay said the former French Premier "is trying to make a fool of the congress or to make the congress the laughing stock of Europe and the world as a whole."

It is physically impossible, McKay said, for the various parliaments to authorize elections within six months.

AT LEAST TWO KILLED IN READING RAIL WRECK

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., May 9 (AP) —At least two persons were killed today in a train wreck near the George Washington Memorial Chapel at historic Valley Forge.

Witnesses said the locomotive of a Reading Railroad passenger train overturned and three of the train's five coaches were derailed on a hilly stretch of country 20 miles from Philadelphia.

Several passengers were reported injured, although preliminary advices said they were not seriously hurt. Ambulances and rescue squads were dispatched from neighboring scenes.

The dead were identified tentatively as Engineer Buck Demmy and Fireman Howard Jackson, both of Allentown, Pa. The train was en route from Allentown to Philadelphia.

Legion Presents Statue Of Truman To Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 9 (AP)—A bronze bust of President Truman was given to his native state of Missouri by the American Legion today.

Truman, the first Legionnaire to become President, is modeled in a serious pose, his Legion button in his lapel. He was an artilleryman with the 15th Division during World War I.

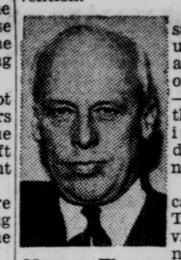
Runs Sixth Time

Thomas Accepts Socialist Presidential Nomination

"Road To Peace" Is Theme Of Campaign

READING, Pa., May 9 (AP) — Norman Thomas accepted today an unprecedented sixth presidential nomination by the Socialist Party and launched his campaign on the theme of "the road to peace."

"In the atomic ages there is not victory but death," the lanky 63-year-old New Yorker told 200 cheering delegates at the closing session of the 26h national Socialist convention.



Norman Thomas

America, he said, must accept universal disarmament as "the one hope of peace—then plant in the world the idea which no dictator can ignore or crush."

Nominated to campaign with Thomas as the vice - presidential nominee was Tucker P. Smith, 49, Olivet, Mich., a detroit suburb. A former union official and American Friends Service representative, Smith was chosen by the convention over Mrs. Mary Donovan Hapgood, Indianapolis.

The vote was not announced. Mrs. Hapgood moved to make the result unanimous.

Thomas was nominated without opposition and selected unanimously as the stamping, whistling, singing delegates paraded around the convention hall. His selection had been a foregone conclusion since the start of the convention Thursday, despite the previous announcement by the five-time presidential candidate that he did not desire to run.

He reversed that decision yesterday and said he would accept the nomination because of the party's need for a nationally known candidate to expedite ballot certification in many states.

He has been his party's candidate for the nation's highest office in each election since 1927 and acceptance of the sixth nomination surpasses the five-times-a-candidate mark of the late Eugene V. Debs.

Thomas' highest vote total, approximately 900,000, was in 1932; four years ago the Socialist vote shrank to less than 90,000 — the lowest ebb in many years. Leaders assert it will return to a "respectable" total this year.

The candidate himself declined to make a forecast at this time.

The nominations came at the concluding session of the convention which adopted a broad platform favoring operation and extension of the European recovery program; abolition of the veto in the United Nations, recognition of Palestine partition as an accomplished fact as a prelude to efforts to obtain an immediate truce and

Plan Giving Draft Power To Truman Picks Up Support

Would Be Invoked Only If Necessary

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Some support is building up in the House for handing President Truman the responsibility for actually starting the new draft program.

A Republican leader, who did not want his name used, told reporters today there is a good chance the House will vote to make the draft effective only when the President proclaims it necessary.

"A lot of people are not sure there is a crisis yet that requires drafting men into the armed services," he said.

"There is strong support outside the Armed Services Committee for getting the draft organization set up on just a standby basis."

House Split Three Ways

The committee has approved a bill authorizing the drafting for two years of men 19 through 25 years old. Drafting could begin 90 days after the bill became law.

The committee considered — but omitted—a provision to start the draft only after a presidential proclamation that this step is essential for security.

The GOP leader said there may be a fight to limit the draft to one year.

As he sees it, the House is split three ways on the draft:

One group is against any legislation; one would give the Army and Navy anything they want, and the third is in between and "probably holds the balance of power."

The House and Senate may stage simultaneous floor fights next week over military manpower.

Women Oppose UMT

The training program would require a year's instruction with regular military forces for 18-year-olds. This would be compulsory. Nobody could volunteer.

After a year's training, the youths would go into the active reserves.

Meanwhile, a group of prominent women contended that a peacetime draft of teen-age boys would injure seriously the American home.

In a statement distributed by the National Council Against Conscription, the women said "the teen-age draft proposal" of the Senate committee is "U.M.T. by subterfuge."

Eight Cars Of Pennsy Freight Train Derailed

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 9—(AP)—Eight cars of a 75-car freight train were derailed today, spilling coal over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks a mile north of this city.

A. R. Townsend, Martinsburg, W. Va., conductor on the train, said no one was injured in the derailment. He said a rigging pin broke and brake mechanism on one of the cars struck a track switch, sending eight cars off the track before the train could be stopped.

Health Insurance Would Require More Doctors

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP) — There aren't enough physicians to meet all demands likely to be made under a compulsory health insurance system, a study made for a Senate group said today.

The report was made and issued by the Brookings Institution, a private research organization. It contended:

"Additional requirements imposed upon the present active medical personnel could only lead to deterioration of quality of medical care."

Night Sessions Held In Effort To Avert Tieup

Strong Indications U. S. Seizure Planned

WASHINGTON, May 10 (Monday) — (AP) — Union representatives left a White House conference shortly after midnight without sign of any agreement to head off a nationwide railroad strike set for Tuesday.

As the union spokesman left the White House at 12:03 a. m. (11:03 p. m. Sunday, EST) it was announced that they had been called back to another conference at 8:30 a. m.

At that time management spokesmen were still standing by in the executive mansion.

The union representatives had nothing to say as they left.

Alvanley Johnston, spokesman for the union negotiators, was asked by reporters what they had been doing during the conferences.

"We've been talking, talking, talking, talking," he replied wearily.

"What have you been talking about?" queried a reporter.

"About just everything," Johnston answered.

After a day-long series of separate meetings with the two sides, the operators first were summoned to an 8 p. m. (EST) meeting with Steelman.

They were held in session until about 9:30, at which time Steelman called union representatives for talks beginning at 9:45.

The management representatives, meanwhile, were kept on call in the White House.

No Sign Of Settlement

There was no outward indication, however, of any approaching settlement.

As Johnston walked into the White House, he muttered to reporters:

"Nothing's settled; nothing's settled. Don't know why we're being called in again now."

The White House said no new joint meeting of the two sides had been arranged.

The night sessions were announced by Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross after Steelman had reported to President Truman on the day's fruitless talks.

Johnston was accompanied by representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the switchmen.

Steelman reported to Mr. Truman in the executive's study on the status of the talks. Ross said that Clark Clifford, the President's legal adviser, sat in while Mr. Truman was "filled in" on the discussions of the day.

There were strong indications that the White House was prepared for any eventuality, including seizure of the railroads, if necessary. The timing of such a move, if ordered, would be up to Mr. Truman to decide—whether more would be gained by waiting until after a walkout began Tuesday morning and then persuading the workers to return for the government—or to take over the roads before the Tuesday deadline and make the railroaders government employes, an effective bar in the past to strike action.

Committee Decides Union Course

Asked whether members of the three strike - threatening unions would carry out the threat in the event the government seized the lines, Johnston said that decision would rest with a strike committee.

Heavy Fighting Reported In Western Macedonia

ATHENS, May 9 (AP)—Greek army troops engaged Communist - led guerrillas today in heavy fighting in Western Macedonia, a general staff communique said.

Supported by planes and artillery, the Greek Second Division was reported moving westward along a 30-mile semi-circular front extending from north of Neapolis to south of Grevena. The northern end of the line was only 25 miles from the Albanian border.

The guerrillas pounded Grevena last night with 150 mortar and artillery shells, killing five persons and wounding three others, the communique said. Grevena is 40 miles northeast of Ioannina.

Egyptian Reported 30 Miles Inside Palestine

CAIRO, Egypt, May 9—(AP)—A communique issued from the "Command of Volunteers, Southern Palestine Front" said today a 2,000-man force of Egyptians has penetrated 30 miles into Palestine.

Arab League headquarters said the force is in command of Lt. Col. Ahmed Abdel Aziz, 42-year-old armored warfare expert. The penetration was made yesterday, the league said.

At the same time, a government communique said the Egyptian Council of Ministers has decided to suspend discharges from the army "until the situation in Palestine becomes clear."

Truman Quoted As Denying Stalin Made Peace Moves

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP) — Sen. Tydings (D-Md.) today quoted President Truman as categorically denying rumors that Premier Stalin has made peace talk overtures.

Tydings said a constituent asked about reports that Russia suggested a conference between Stalin and Mr. Truman prior to the Czechoslovak crisis. Tydings said in a speech for broadcast he was certain the report was not true, but he continued:

"In order that there might be no question about it whatever, I put the matter squarely up to President Truman.

"I asked the President whether or not Mr. Stalin or anyone else representing Russia had made peace overtures to the United States and had suggested that Mr. Truman and Mr. Stalin meet somewhere to discuss world affairs, and if the President had refused to accept the alleged invitation of the Russians.

"The President answered me categorically with 'No'" Tydings continued. "He said there was absolutely not one iota of truth in the report. He said that neither Mr. Stalin nor anyone else representing Russia had made any such suggestion to him or to the American government.

(Mr. Truman has told recent news conferences that he has no plans to meet with Stalin outside this country. He said that if Stalin wishes to come here he will talk with him.)

Southern Koreans Voting Amid Scenes Of Violence

SEOUL, Monday, May 10—(AP)—Amid conditions of widespread Communist violence, South Koreans began voting today in large numbers under the eyes of the United Nations.

Reports to the United States headquarters in the southern occupation zone indicated about 40 persons were slain during the past three days.

More than 400 have been killed in the past three months.

The election — confined to the American zone—is to select 200 members of a national assembly for creation of a Korean government. Russia, occupying North Korea, boycotted the United Nations-sponsored plan.

Hodge Advised To Leave

SEOUL, Korea, May 9 (AP)—The radio in Russian - occupied North Korea told Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge today, "You had better get out of Korea with your clothes packed."

The broadcast advised the American commander in South Korea to "give up your attempt to carry out a separate election" Monday.

The election is intended to choose 200 members of a national assembly to create a Korean government. The Russians refused to permit an election in their zone, and Communists in the south are trying to disrupt the voting in the south by violence.

The North Korean broadcast was in the form of an open letter by "representatives of all political parties and social organizations of North Korea."

It declared Hodge's recent statements (blaming "Communist stooges of northern masters" for the pre-election disorders in the south) "disclose you uneasy mind."

Decision Due This Week On Europe Military Policies

Two Measures Are Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall and Sen. Vandenberg (R - Mich) are expected to decide this week on the last two pieces of foreign policy legislation which Congress may be asked to pass this session. They are part of the effort to promote and protect the revival of non-Communist Europe.

The two measures, which have been under careful consideration by Marshall, Vandenberg and other Republican and administration leaders, are these:

1. A resolution to record Congress in favor of the use of United Nations regional defense systems for the political strengthening and military protection of Western Europe and

Authority For Truman

2. Temporary authority for President Truman during the congressional recess to provide arms and military equipment on a small scale to any Marshall Plan country needing them.

Both of these pieces of legislation are regarded by foreign policy makers as intended to advance the new grand design of American policy toward Europe. It has been slowly taking shape for several months and may be given final form at the next session of Congress—after the elections.

This overall pattern, according to present tentative plans, may require not one, but two new United Nations regional organizations. One would be a Western European defense system which has already been started and which in the American view should be aimed at producing a United States of Europe. It would be a limited "Atlantic Alliance" through which the United States would throw its protection over the new Western European League.

These long-range objectives, as viewed by some of Secretary Marshall's advisers, are frankly aimed at interposing a "third power" between the United States and Russia. The existence of this independent third power five or 10 years from now, responsible American leaders hope, may end the grand spectacle of American and Soviet forces directly pitted against each other in a world devoid of any other great concentration of strength.

Marshall said that American military strength needs to be revived to restore the "balance of power" relationships necessary to restore international security. He admitted in the same testimony the failure of the United Nations to provide the security it was supposed to create.

Jerusalem Mayor Agreement Near

LAKE SUCCESS, May 9—(AP)—A Jewish-Arab agreement appeared near today on a neutral commissioner to act as mayor of Jerusalem when the British end their rule Friday night.

Despite strict secrecy surrounding negotiations here, it was learned that at least one prominent resident of Jerusalem had been accepted by both Arab and Jewish representatives.

Andrew Cordier, executive assistant to United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie, said any announcement regarding the naming of the proposed commissioner will be made in Jerusalem by the British High Commissioner for Palestine.

Cordier has been conducting the negotiations by passing names back and forth between the Jewish and Arab representatives.

A Jewish Agency spokesman said the agency had notified Cordier the Jews would accept one of three men suggested yesterday by the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine. The spokesman declined to say, however, which one they had approved.

The three men are: A. L. Miller, an American, who is executive-secretry of the UMCA in Jerusalem; A. P. Clark, British head of Barclay's Bank in Jerusalem, and Father Eugene, an Irish Franciscan monk.

In view of the agreement, it appeared an appointment would be made quickly unless the man selected refused to serve.

The proposed commissioner, or mayor, would head a "shadow" city government without any police power and very little authority. His primary duty would be to try to get as much Arab-Jewish co-operation as possible.

Heavy Vote Indicated In Panama's Election

PANAMA, Panama, May 9 (AP)—A heavy vote was indicated today in Panama's first presidential election in eight years. The official count will start tomorrow.

Except for isolated cases of delay, the balloting proceeded normally. Didacio Silvera, president of the National Elections Jury and a member of the opposition, said his office had received complaints the government had arrested several belonging to the opposition in interior towns.

President H. Enrique Adolfo Jimenez said all those arrested had been ordered released. He pointed out the opposition parties have a majority in all electoral corporations.

Plane Dives Into Water

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP)—A Pan American World Airways Constellation plane returning from a night training flight plunged into the water off La Guardia field early today. The four crew members aboard escaped serious injury and waded ashore.

Two Dixie Demos Spurn Bid To Join Truman Campaign

McClellan, Russell Reject Invitation

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Two southern Democrats added new fuel to the civil rights political revolt today by saying they will not campaign this year for President Truman.

Sens. McClellan (D-Ark) and Russell (D-Ga) said in separate interviews that they are rejecting what McClellan called an invitation from J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, to join in the national party campaign.

McGrath wrote senators a form letter offering to make available to them facilities of the national committee's radio division.

He said this division is "prepared to give you all possible assistance" in getting political speeches ready and putting them on the air. He didn't specify any subject matter.

McClellan's Statement

McClellan told a reporter he intends to reply that:

"It would be inconsistent for me to attempt to defend the record of the present administration when I so violently disagree with on of the most important aspects of the domestic program—that of so-called civil rights legislation."

"Until the leadership of the party repudiates that part of its program," the Arkansas Senator said, "I cannot give support in the nature of public addresses in behalf of the Truman candidacy."

Russell said he intends to ignore the McGrath letter. But he added he has "no intention of campaigning for President Truman so long as he advocates these so-called civil-rights measures."

Their action followed rejection by Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) of an appeal by McGrath to help raise funds for the national campaign.

Southern Democrats Meet

The President's advocacy of anti-Lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-segregation and anti-job discrimination legislation is likely to come in for blistering comment from a meeting of "state's rights" Democrats in Jackson, Miss., tomorrow.

Representatives from 10 southern states are expected at the gathering. Southerners here said there will be talk of forming a southern Democratic Party and of backing someone besides Mr. Truman out, however, apparently is becoming more remote daily. The President now has 423 pledged votes and needs only 195 more to clinch the nomination on the first ballot at the July Philadelphia convention.

Truman Defeat Held Possible

JACKSON, Miss., May 9 (AP) — Gov. Ben Laney, of Arkansas, a leader in the states' rights Democratic movement, expressed belief tonight that the nomination of President Truman can be prevented.

United Europe Step Forward, Churchill Says

Tyranny Denounced By Briton At Parley

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, May 9—(AP)—Winston Churchill said today that a united Europe would permit the continent to take her place as an independent and self-supporting part of a world organization.

Addressing 30,000 persons in Amsterdam's square, Churchill said:

"We are trying to take a step forward, in harmony with our different governments, to revive the old glory of Europe."

He declared a united Europe must be safe from foreign aggression or inroads and added:

"It must be a Europe in which men will be proud to say 'I am an European.' When men of every country will think as much of being an European as of being a citizen of their own country." This he described as "the transformation of the Western World."

Britain's wartime prime minister and leaders from other countries have been participating in an unofficial "Congress of Europe" at The Hague to promote the idea of a democratic federation of European nations. The congress is scheduled to complete its work of preliminary organization tomorrow night.

"Our life ought not to be crushed or flattened out by any kind of totalitarian tyranny, either Nazi, which we cast out, or any other," Churchill said.

"I am not an enemy of any nation. I am not against any race or nation. It is against tyranny that we take our stand. This tyranny presents itself in various forms x x x but whatever liveries it wears, it is always the same and demands that we oppose it.

Churchill spoke from a platform erected on the steps of the royal palace. Seated behind him were many leaders from the countries of Western Europe. Among them were former Premiers Paul Ramadier, Paul Reynaud, and Edouard Daladier of France; Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary; Pieter Kerstens, former Dutch Education Minister, and Dr. Arnold Dailly, Burgomaster of Amsterdam.

Earlier, the Congress' political committee approved a policy of proceeding slowly and carefully in forming a European federation.

Reynaud lost on a proposal assembly by the end of the year.

Two British delegates, R. W. G. Mackay and Harold MacMillan, cautioned against hasty action. Mackay said the former French Premier "is trying to make a fool of the congress or to make the congress the laughing stock of Europe and the world as a whole."

It is physically impossible, McKay said, for the various parliaments to authorize elections within six months.

AT LEAST TWO KILLED IN READING RAIL WRECK

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., May 9 (AP) —At least two persons were killed today in a train wreck near the George Washington Memorial Chapel at historic Valley Forge.

Witnesses said the locomotive of a Reading Railroad passenger train overturned and three of the train's five coaches were derailed on a hilly stretch of country 20 miles from Philadelphia.

Several passengers were reported injured, although preliminary advices said they were not seriously hurt. Ambulances and rescue squads were dispatched from neighboring scenes.

The dead were identified tentatively as Engineer Buck Demmy and Fireman Howard Jackson, both of Allentown, Pa. The train was en route from Allentown to Philadelphia.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 9 (AP)—A bronze bust of President Truman was given to his native state of Missouri by the American Legion today.

Truman, the first Legionnaire to become President, is modeled in a serious pose, his Legion button in his lapel. He was an artilleryman with the 15th Division during World War I.

Night Sessions Held In Effort To Avert Tieup

Strong Indications U. S. Seizure Planned

WASHINGTON, May 10 (Monday) — (AP) — Union representatives left a White House conference shortly after midnight without sign of any agreement to head off a nationwide railroad strike set for Tuesday.

As the union spokesman left the White House at 12:03 a. m. (11:03 p. m. Sunday, EST) it was announced that they had been called back to another conference at 8:30 a. m.

At that time management spokesmen were still standing by in the executive mansion.

The union representatives had nothing to say as they left.

Alvanley Johnston, spokesman for the union negotiators, was asked by reporters what they had been doing during the conferences.

"We've been talking, talking, talking, talking," he replied wearily.

"What have you been talking about?" queried a reporter.

"About just everything," Johnston answered.

After a day-long series of separate meetings with the two sides the operators first were summoned to an 8 p. m. (EST) meeting with Steelman.

They were held in session until about 9:30, at which time Steelman called union representatives for talks beginning at 9:45.

The management representatives, meanwhile, were kept on call in the White House.

No Sign Of Settlement

There was no outward indication, however, of any approaching settlement.

As Johnston walked into the White House, he muttered to reporters:

"Nothing's settled; nothing's settled. Don't know why we're being called in again now."

The White House said no new joint meeting of the two sides had been arranged.

The night sessions were announced by Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross after Steelman had reported to President Truman on the day's fruitless talks.

Johnston was accompanied by representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the switchmen.

Steelman reported to Mr. Truman in the executive's study on the status of the talks. Ross said that Clark Clifford, the President's legal adviser, sat in while Mr. Truman was "filled in" on the discussions of the day.

There were strong indications that the White House was prepared for any eventuality, including seizure of the railroads, if necessary. The timing of such a move, if ordered, would be up to Mr. Truman to decide—whether more would be gained by waiting until after a walkout began Tuesday morning and then persuading the workers to return for the government—or to take over the roads before the Tuesday deadline and make the railroaders government employes, an effective bar in the past to strike action.

Committee Decides Union Course

Asked whether members of the three strike - threatening unions would carry out the threat in the event the government seized the lines, Johnston said that decision would rest with a strike committee.

Plan Giving Draft Power To Truman Picks Up Support

Would Be Invoked Only If Necessary

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Some support is building up in the House for handing President Truman the responsibility for actually starting the new draft program.

A Republican leader, who did not want his name used, told reporters today there is a good chance the House will vote to make the draft effective only when the President proclaims it necessary.

"A lot of people are not sure there is a crisis yet that requires drafting men into the armed services," he said.

"There is strong support outside the Armed Services Committee for getting the draft organization set up on just a standby basis."

House Split Three Ways

The committee has approved a bill authorizing the drafting for two years of men 19 through 25 years old. Drafting could begin 90 days after the bill became law.

The committee considered — but omitted—a provision to start the draft only after a presidential proclamation that this step is essential for security.

The GOP leader said there may be a fight to limit the draft to one year.

As he sees it, the House is split three ways on the draft:

One group is against any legislation; one would give the Army and Navy anything they want, and the third is in between and "probably holds the balance of power."

The House and Senate may stage simultaneous floor fights next week over military manpower.

Women Oppose UMT

The training program would require a year's instruction with regular military forces for 18-year-olds. This would be compulsory. Nobody could volunteer.

After a year's training, the youths would go into the active reserves.

Meanwhile, a group of prominent women contended that a peacetime draft of teen-age boys would injure seriously the American home.

In a statement distributed by the National Council Against Conscription, the women said "the teen-age draft proposal" of the Senate committee is "U.M.T. by subterfuge."

"Road To Peace" Is Theme Of Campaign

READING, Pa., May 9 (AP) — Norman Thomas accepted today an unprecedented sixth presidential nomination by the Socialist Party and launched his campaign on the theme of "the road to peace."

"In the atomic ages there is not victory but death," the lanky 63-year-old New Yorker told 200 cheering delegates at the closing session of the 26h national Socialist convention.

Norman Thomas

America, he said, must accept universal disarmament as "the one hope of peace—then plant in the world the idea which no dictator can ignore or crush."

Nominated to campaign with Thomas as the vice - presidential nominee was Tucker P. Smith, 49, Olivet, Mich., a detroit suburb. A former union official and American Friends Service representative, Smith was chosen by the convention over Mrs. Mary Donovan Hapgood, Indianapolis.

The vote was not announced. Mrs. Hapgood moved to make the result unanimous.

Thomas was nominated without opposition and selected unanimously as the stamping, whistling, singing delegates paraded around the convention hall. His selection had been a foregone conclusion since the start of the convention Thursday, despite the previous announcement by the five-time presidential candidate that he did not desire to run.

He reversed that decision yesterday and said he would accept the nomination because of the party's need for a nationally known candidate to expedite ballot certification in many states.

He has been his party's candidate for the nation's highest office in each election since 1927 and acceptance of the sixth nomination surpasses the five-times-a-candidate mark of the late Eugene V. Debs.

Thomas' highest vote total, approximately 900,000, was in 1932; four years ago the Socialist vote shrank to less than 90,000 — the lowest ebb in many years. Leaders assert it will return to a "respectable" total this year.

The candidate himself declined to make a forecast at this time.

The nominations came at the concluding session of the convention which adopted a broad platform favoring operation and extension of the European recovery program; abolition of the veto in the United Nations, recognition of Palestine partition as an accomplished fact as a prelude to efforts to obtain an immediate truce and

Eight Cars Of Pennsy Freight Train Derailed

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 9—(AP)—Eight cars of a 75-car freight train were derailed today, spilling coal over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks a mile north of this city.

A. R. Townsend, Martinsburg, W. Va., conductor on the train, said no one was injured in the derailment. He said a rigging pin broke and brake mechanism on one of the cars struck a track switch, sending eight cars off the track before the train could be stopped.

Health Insurance Would Require More Doctors

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP) — There aren't enough physicians to meet all demands likely to be made under a compulsory health insurance system, a study made for a Senate group said today.

The report was made and issued by the Brookings Institution, a private research organization. It contended:

"Additional requirements imposed upon the present active medical personnel could only lead to deterioration of quality of medical care."

Truman Quoted As Denying Stalin Made Peace Moves

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP) — Sen. Tydings (D-Md.) today quoted President Truman as categorically denying rumors that Premier Stalin has made peace talk overtures.

Tydings said a constituent asked about reports that Russia suggested a conference between Stalin and Mr. Truman prior to the Czechoslovak crisis. Tydings said in a speech for broadcast he was certain the report was not true, but he continued:

"In order that there might be no question about it whatever, I put the matter squarely up to President Truman.

"I asked the President whether or not Mr. Stalin or anyone else representing Russia had made peace overtures to the United States and had suggested that Mr. Truman and Mr. Stalin meet somewhere to discuss world affairs, and if the President had refused to accept the alleged invitation of the Russians.

"The President answered me categorically with 'No'" Tydings continued. "He said there was absolutely not one iota of truth in the report. He said that neither Mr. Stalin nor anyone else representing Russia had made any such suggestion to him or to the American government.

(Mr. Truman has told recent news conferences that he has no plans to meet with Stalin outside this country. He said that if Stalin wishes to come here he will talk with him.)

Southern Koreans Voting Amid Scenes Of Violence

SEOUL, Monday, May 10—(AP)—Amid conditions of widespread Communist violence, South Koreans began voting today in large numbers under the eyes of the United Nations.

Reports to the United States headquarters in the southern occupation zone indicated about 40 persons were slain during the past three days.

More than 400 have been killed in the past three months.

The election — confined to the American zone—is to select 200 members of a national assembly for creation of a Korean government. Russia, occupying North Korea, boycotted the United Nations-sponsored plan.

Hodge Advised To Leave

SEOUL, Korea, May 9 (AP)—The radio in Russian - occupied North Korea told Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge today, "You had better get out of Korea with your clothes packed."

The broadcast advised the American commander in South Korea to "give up your attempt to carry out a separate election" Monday.

The election is intended to choose 200 members of a national assembly to create a Korean government. The Russians refused to permit an election in their zone, and Communists in the south are trying to disrupt the voting in the south by violence.

The North Korean broadcast was in the form of an open letter by "representatives of all political parties and social organizations of North Korea."

It declared Hodge's recent statements (blaming "Communist stooges of northern masters" for the pre-election disorders in the south) "disclose you uneasy mind."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Conspiracy of Silence

Shortly after the opening of the American Broadcasting Company's recent hour-long documentary on venereal disease, Kitty, an 18-year-old tramp, walked out on her bus driver husband, leaving behind the souvenir of syphilis. Unaware that he had the disease, the bus driver, a man named Herb, went back to his bus. Later a sore bothered him and disappeared. A body rash came and went. He ignored them both.

John Crosby

"There are cards in Herb's bus warning him that a rosy-colored toothbrush can bring trouble for his gums," remarked George Hicks, the narrator "But no car card warns him about a copper-colored rash on his body. There are car cards that tell him how not to offend. None tells him how to avoid being some day the father of a syphilitic child, born dead or crippled. The car cards do not warn him. The newspapers have seldom warned him. The radio has almost never warned him."

There is grim irony in this statement, but the very fact that the statement and the broadcast got on the air shows how far we have come in the last few years. The battle against what this program referred to as the "conspiracy of silence" has been long and bitter. Gradually it is being won. Venereal disease has been mentioned in newspapers, guardedly for a quarter of a century, fairly openly since "The Daily News" in New York ran a series of articles on the subject 11 years ago.

As for radio, in 1937, the late General Hugh Johnson, then a radio commentator, was prevented by NBC censorship from delivering a talk in support of a national drive against venereal disease sponsored by Surgeon General Thomas H. Parran. The disgusted general explained, the situation over the air in 38 words and walked out. The event created such a furor that Parran later appeared on Johnson's program and delivered much of the forbidden material. For a while the network policy held that doctors could talk about venereal disease over the air but no one else could. Then a few courageous independent stations ran documentaries on the subject The ABC broadcast was the first exhaustive treatment of the subject on a national network, and it too is a significant victory in the war against the "conspiracy of silence."

Considerable pressure was brought against ABC to prevent the broadcast but nothing like the pressure which would have been leveled against the network ten years ago. Also it's heartening to learn that the reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable. Of the first five hundred letters received by ABC only one disapproved.

The broadcast called simply "VD" was a skillful blend of the general and the specific, long-shots of the general problem, close-ups of a few specific victims. We left the disease-harboring bus-driver for a moment to trace the history of the medical fight against VD: Erlich's 606. The brief thrill over sulfa in 1939 followed by gradual disappointment when some gonorrhea germs developed immunity. The wonder of penicillin in 1943

Then back to Kitty, falling into the arms of a young college student. Fear and ignorance drove him to a quack who bled him of his money and, more seriously, left him with the impression he was cured when he wasn't. More general information. Only one in three go voluntarily to a doctor or clinic for treatment. This reluctance has led to the development of a case-finding techniques of health departments co-operating from city to city to track down the chain of infection.

We pick up the bus driver again. He has married again in one of the 10 states—Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, South Carolina and Washington—which do not require blood tests. His second wife, Mary, thus caught the consequences of Kitty, and their unborn child would have too but for the eleventh-hour intervention of a health officer. The bus driver had been traced after a six-month search starting in New York City after the disease had been found in Kitty. But, as the broadcast ended, the college student was still at large, still unaware.

To the unwitting, the broadcast repeatedly reiterated the symptoms; to the unwilling, it promised—in so far as syphilis is concerned—a speedy cure. Medical science has largely done its part; the rest is a matter of public education. The program was not altogether perfect. There were traces of sticky sentiment which cheapened the problem. Also, the broadcast carefully skirted prevention and kept its eyes fixed on cures.

Nevertheless the ironic message of Mr. Hicks quoted above is steadily becoming obsolete in the dawning age of enlightenment on venereal disease.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Conspiracy of Silence

Shortly after the opening of the American Broadcasting Company's recent hour-long documentary on venereal disease, Kitty, an 18-year-old tramp, walked out on her bus driver husband, leaving behind the souvenir of syphilis. Unaware that he had the disease, the bus driver, a man named Herb, went back to his bus. Later a sore bothered him and disappeared. A body rash came and went. He ignored them both.

John Crosby

"There are cards in Herb's bus warning him that a rosy-colored toothbrush can bring trouble for his gums," remarked George Hicks, the narrator. "But no car card warns him about a copper-colored rash on his body. There are car cards that tell him how not to offend. None tells him how to avoid being some day the father of a syphilitic child, born dead or crippled. The car cards do not warn him. The newspapers have seldom warned him. The radio has almost never warned him."

There is grim irony in this statement, but the very fact that the statement and the broadcast got on the air shows how far we have come in the last few years. The battle against what this program referred to as the "conspiracy of silence" has been long and bitter. Gradually it is being won. Venereal disease has been mentioned in newspapers, guardedly for a quarter of a century, fairly openly since "The Daily News" in New York ran a series of articles on the subject 11 years ago.

As for radio, in 1937, the late General Hugh Johnson, then a radio commentator, was prevented by NBC censorship from delivering a talk in support of a national drive against venereal disease sponsored by Surgeon General Thomas H. Parran. The disgusted general explained, the situation over the air in 38 words and walked out. The event created such a furor that Parran later appeared on Johnson's program and delivered much of the forbidden material. For a while the network policy held that doctors could talk about venereal disease over the air but no one else could. Then a few courageous independent stations ran documentaries on the subject. The ABC broadcast was the first exhaustive treatment of the subject on a national network, and it too is a significant victory in the war against the "conspiracy of silence."

Considerable pressure was brought against ABC to prevent the broadcast but nothing like the pressure which would have been leveled against the network ten years ago. Also it's heartening to learn that the reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable. Of the first five hundred letters received by ABC only one disapproved.

The broadcast called simply "VD" was a skillful blend of the general and the specific, long-shots of the general problem, close-ups of a few specific victims. We left the disease-harboring bus-driver for a moment to trace the history of the medical fight against VD: Erlich's 606. The brief thrill over sulfa in 1939 followed by gradual disappointment when some gonorrhea germs developed immunity. The wonder of penicillin in 1943.

Then back to Kitty, falling into the arms of a young college student. Fear and ignorance drove him to a quack who bled him of his money and, more seriously, left him with the impression he was cured when he wasn't. More general information. Only one in three go voluntarily to a doctor or clinic for treatment. This reluctance has led to the development of a case-finding techniques of health departments co-operating from city to city to track down the chain of infection.

We pick up the bus driver again. He has married again in one of the 10 states—Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, South Carolina and Washington—which do not require blood tests. His second wife, Mary, thus caught the consequences of Kitty, and their unborn child would have too but for the eleventh-hour intervention of a health officer. The bus driver had been traced after a six-month search starting in New York City after the disease had been found in Kitty. But, as the broadcast ended, the college student was still at large, still unaware.

To the unwitting, the broadcast repeatedly reiterated the symptoms; to the unwilling, it promised—in so far as syphilis is concerned—a speedy cure. Medical science has largely done its part; the rest is a matter of public education. The program was not altogether perfect. There were traces of sticky sentiment which cheapened the problem. Also, the broadcast carefully skirted prevention and kept its eyes fixed on cures.

Nevertheless the ironic message of Mr. Hicks quoted above is steadily becoming obsolete in the dawning age of enlightenment on venereal disease.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The other night I clinked coffee cups with an actor who recently returned from Hollywood. He's not much of a talent, but he has one of the best leers in show business, and is always in demand to play the villain in shoot - 'em - ups and whodunits. In private life, he's a sweetie-pie and wouldn't hurt an agent.

Billy Rose

The night we met, his expression was more Bette Davis than Bela Lugosi.

"What's the matter?" I flipped. "You look as if you'd lost your last friend."

"Please," said the menace about town.

"Are you having wife trouble?" I sure-guessed.

The actor nodded.

"Tell papa," I said. "On a columnist's word of honor, I'll keep your secret."

•—•—•

The actor bit his lip, but an audience of even one was more than he could resist. "My troubles," he began, "stem from a Swami."

"Swami River?" I bad joked.

"Swami Ali Ben Ashi," said my friend. "He's head of the Temple of New Truth, located in downtown Los Angeles."

"Did the Swami make a pass at your wife or vice versa," I asked.

"Let me give it to you in sequence," said the actor. "Shortly after I got to Hollywood, I met a girl. She was a member of the Swami's sect, and a believer in its teachings. When I proposed marriage, she accepted on condition that the wedding take place in the Temple.

"As Durante used to say, I was in no mood to dicker. At the ceremony, Ali Ben Ashi painted the symbol of Om on our foreheads, consecrated us to the Jewel in the Lotus, and gave us a small vial of colorless liquid. He assured us that as long as we were faithful, the liquid would remain clear. But if either of us cheated, it would turn black as ink."

•—•—•

"Did you believe this mumbo-jumbo?" I asked.

"Of course not," said the actor, "but to please my wife, I kept the vial on the mantelpiece as a symbol of our love.

"One day last month, my wife told me she was going to Pasadena to spend the night with her mother who wasn't feeling well. That night I had some of the boys from the studio in for a game of seven-card stud. One of the gang noticed the vial and asked me about it. I repeated what the Swami had told me.

"While I was in the kitchen fixing the drinks, the boys decided to have a little fun. They emptied the vial and filled it with black ink. I noticed the switch as soon as I came back into the room, and made a mental note to replace the ink with water when the game was over.

"It was three a. m. before the game broke up, and by that time I was woozy. I dropped off to sleep and forgot the vial completely.

"Soon as I got up next morning, I remembered it, and rushed downstairs to change the ink back to water. But I was too late."

"I get it," I said. "Your wife got in early, saw the vial, accused you of infidelity and walked out."

"It was worse than that," said the actor. "When I got downstairs, my wife was fixing herself some breakfast. She put her arms around me and kissed me tenderly. On the mantel was the vial—filled with a colorless liquid."

Celanese To Construct New Plant In Canada

Plans of Celanese Corporation for construction of a cellulose plant in Canada were advanced when Columbia Cellulose Company, Ltd., a subsidiary, received from the British of Columbia government a forest management license.

The license is for extensive tracts of forest land in the province. This is the first license to be issued under the amendment to the Forest Act, authorized at the 1947 session of the British Columbia Legislative Assembly.

Preparation of the site of the plant is nearing completion and construction is scheduled to begin shortly, although approximately two years will be required to complete the project.

Recent Report Reveals Business Slipping Here

According to the American Banker, trade magazine, Cumberland is the only city of the 54 leading cities in the North Atlantic states that shows a decline in bank debits during the month of March.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the drop in debits reflects a slackening of business in this area. He pointed out that the coal strike and the resulting railroad furloughs hurt the Cumberland area.

March bank debits for Cumberland totaled $20,042,000, a drop of 1.8 per cent. For the first quarter debits totaled $58,258,000.

Senate To Vote On Parkway Bill

Potential plans for one of the world's most beautiful highways, running between Cumberland and Washington, D. C., will go before the Senate for final approval after receiving support of the U. S. Senate Interior Committee last week.

Already approved by the House, the bill provides for a parkway running along the route of the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, which provided a waterway between the two cities in the early history of Cumberland.

Taken over by the federal government in 1938 to be preserved as an historic spot, the canal was restored between Washington and Seneca, Md., but further restoration proved too costly.

The parkway would enter Cumberland from the Oldtown section with the exact location to be determined by a survey which now awaits the approval of the Senate.

Residents To Seek Summit Road Change

Relocation of Vale Summit Road will be discussed at a meeting of Georges Creek area residents tonight at the home of James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing, and a peition taken up for presentation to the State Roads Commission.

Leslie Clark, Lonaconing, who is acting as spokesman for the group, said many of the area residents use the road daily in traveling to and from work and indicated they will petition the State Roads Commission for relocation.

The road, according to Clark, has already been described as dangerous, and is the scene of numerous accidents, including several fatal mishaps in 1947.

Mayor, Council Study Pay Increase Demands

The possibility of a wage hike for all city employes appeared likely Saturday following a meeting of the Mayor and City Council, but there was genuine doubt that the increases would meet some demands reported to range as high as $40 a month.

Virtually all city employes have requested increases of some nature and the Mayor and Council reportedly considered two methods for meeting the demands. One would provide for a percentage increase while the other would grant a flat pay increase to all employes.

Gilbert Stump Is Sentenced To Jail

Charged with failing to stop after hitting two parked cars and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, Gilbert Jesse Stump, Hay Street, was committed to Allegany County Jail Saturday in default of $112.50.

Stump pleaded guilty to the charges at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court after being arrested Friday night. Police said he struck automobiles owned by Jesse F. Crites, Fifth Street, and Howard Frost, Ford Avenue. Damage was slight in both cases.

Richard L. Albright, 929 Glenwood Street, also arrested on charges of violating two state motor vehicle laws, was held in jail in default of $1,000 bond set by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew when the defendant requested an extension of time to prepare his case.

Police said Albright's car sideswiped a vehicle owned by Richard Schade, Baltimore Pike, at the intersection of Maryland Avenue and Williams Street Friday night.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Husband's Disposition Changed After Marriage, "Disgusted Wife" Says

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A woman who signs her letter, "Disgusted Wife" tells an all-too-familiar story of a second marriage that quickly soured.

Her story is that she had left her first husband and gone to work, taking her little boy with her, when she met the man who became her second husband. Apparently he seemed to her like the answer to all her problems, since he offered to pay for her divorce and also showed a fatherly interest in her child and said he wished to bring him up as his own.

Unfortunately, however, once he became her husband, he quickly changed his attitude. He complained about the rent he had to pay to house his new family, felt himself put upon because he had to support a child not his own, criticized and nagged at her constantly for the way she did her housework and brought up the two children that were soon added to the family, and showed a strange jealousy of his wife's first husband, who by this time had died, saying in effect that the first husband had the best years of this woman's life while all he got was "leavings."

All of this has reduced the wife to such a nervous condition that she feels she can't go on any longer She is considering taking her child by her former husband and leaving her present husband. She thinks she could get a job through which she could support herself and the boy. She believes that her husband's relatives would take the other two children. She also mentions the fact that these in-laws are against her because she brought a child with her for her second husband to support.

At first thought it would seem that her idea of a solution to the problem might be a good one.

On the other hand, longer consideration of the situation makes one wonder if she might in the end only be exchanging one set of worries for another. She may think that she could give up the two children fathered by her second husband, but I wonder if she might not regret that decision later on. It would be a pretty unnatural sort of mother who could let her children go so easily, and I do not believe this woman is such a type. Since she says she is already on poor terms with her husband's family, she might find many obstacles in the way of ever seeing her children again, once she had relinquished any claim to them.

It is chiefly for this reason that I would urge her to think a long time, and oonsider very carefully, before she does anything so final as to break up her family. The regret and remorse she might feel when she once lost contact with the other two children might be far more nerve-wracking than the irritation she has to bear at present.

Fire Damages Old Canal Lock House

District 16 Volunteer Fire Company, Oldtown Road, was called to Berry's lock house on the C. and O. Canal below North Branch Saturday when fire damaged the upper part of the building.

Chief George McBride of the fire company said damage was estimated at $400 and firemen had to resort to a bucket brigade when they were unable to drive their truck close enough to use their booster pump or hose.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The other night I clinked coffee cups with an actor who recently returned from Hollywood. He's not much of a talent, but he has one of the best leers in show business, and is always in demand to play the villain in shoot - 'em - ups and whodunits. In private life, he's a sweetie-pie and wouldn't hurt an agent.

Billy Rose

The night we met, his expression was more Bette Davis than Bela Lugosi.

"What's the matter?" I flipped. "You look as if you'd lost your last friend."

"Please," said the menace about town.

"Are you having wife trouble?" I sure-guessed.

The actor nodded.

"Tell papa," I said. "On a columnist's word of honor, I'll keep your secret."

• — • — •

The actor bit his lip, but an audience of even one was more than he could resist. "My troubles," he began, "stem from a Swami."

"Swami River?" I bad joked.

"Swami Ali Ben Ashi," said my friend. "He's head of the Temple of New Truth, located in downtown Los Angeles."

"Did the Swami make a pass at your wife or vice versa," I asked.

"Let me give it to you in sequence," said the actor. "Shortly after I got to Hollywood, I met a girl. She was a member of the Swami's sect, and a believer in its teachings. When I proposed marriage, she accepted on condition that the wedding take place in the Temple.

"As Durante used to say, I was in no mood to dicker. At the ceremony, Ali Ben Ashi painted the symbol of Om on our foreheads, consecrated us to the Jewel in the Lotus, and gave us a small vial of colorless liquid. He assured us that as long as we were faithful, the liquid would remain clear. But if either of us cheated, it would turn black as ink."

• — • — •

"Did you believe this mumbo-jumbo?" I asked.

"Of course not," said the actor, "but to please my wife, I kept the vial on the mantelpiece as a symbol of our love.

"One day last month, my wife told me she was going to Pasadena to spend the night with her mother who wasn't feeling well. That night I had some of the boys from the studio in for a game of seven-card stud. One of the gang noticed the vial and asked me about it. I repeated what the Swami had told me.

• — • — •

"While I was in the kitchen fixing the drinks, the boys decided to have a little fun. They emptied the vial and filled it with black ink. I noticed the switch as soon as I came back into the room, and made a mental note to replace the ink with water when the game was over.

"It was three a. m. before the game broke up, and by that time I was woozy. I dropped off to sleep and forgot the vial completely.

"Soon as I got up next morning, I remembered it, and rushed downstairs to change the ink back to water. But I was too late."

"I get it," I said. "Your wife got in early, saw the vial, accused you of infidelity and walked out."

"It was worse than that," said the actor. "When I got downstairs, my wife was fixing herself some breakfast. She put her arms around me and kissed me tenderly. On the mantel was the vial—filled with a colorless liquid."

Celanese To Construct New Plant In Canada

Plans of Celanese Corporation for construction of a cellulose plant in Canada were advanced when Columbia Cellulose Company, Ltd., a subsidiary, received from the British of Columbia government a forest management license.

The license is for extensive tracts of forest land in the province. This is the first license to be issued under the amendment to the Forest Act, authorized at the 1947 session of the British Columbia Legislative Assembly.

Preparation of the site of the plant is nearing completion and construction is scheduled to begin shortly, although approximately two years will be required to complete the project.

Recent Report Reveals Business Slipping Here

According to the American Banker, trade magazine, Cumberland is the only city of the 54 leading cities in the North Atlantic states that shows a decline in bank debits during the month of March.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the drop in debits reflects a slackening of business in this area. He pointed out that the coal strike and the resulting railroad furloughs hurt the Cumberland area.

March bank debits for Cumberland totaled $20,042,000, a drop of 1.8 per cent. For the first quarter debits totaled $58,258,000.

Stassen Still Strong; Taft Strengthens Case

The outcome of the Ohio primary has left both Harold W. Stassen and the state's "favorite son" for the presidency, Senator Robert F. Taft, more or less satisfied, but one thing must be said and that is that the Buckeye State Senator succeeded in slowing down the former Minnesota governor's bandwagon.

Mr. SHtassen, two weeks before the primary, set a standard for what he would regard as success in the voting. He said he would consider the result a victory if he carried half, or even eleven, of the contested district delegates and if his single candidate for delegate-at-large got as many votes as the average for the nine Taft delegates-at-large. In other words, twelve votes or more would be a successful outcome from his viewpoint.

He won nine district delegates but lost his delegate-at-large candidate—not too impressive a showing.

On the other hand, from the Taft viewpoint, we would say the result was satisfactory but not uproariously so. The senior Senator from Ohio met the full brunt of an attack by an opponent who flushed with recent successes in Wisconsin and Nebraska. In a close-to-the-people campaign Taft would seem to have stopped the attack and a little more. Stassen didn't do so badly but he certainly lost a good deal of the bloom of a young political conqueror with which he entered the Ohio campaign.

The vote in three Cleveland districts was significant. It is often repeated that Taft is a poor campaigner, with no vote appeal, and three weeks before the balloting began it was common knowledge that prospects for the Senator were bad in Cleveland. On occasion the city by Lake Erie has shown a considerable capacity for being unfriendly to Republicans. It is the opinion of political observers that had it not been for the situation in Clevland, Stassen would not have made a contest in Ohio at all. There were sharp differences among Taft's friends regarding measures and methods to be used in the campaign. The prospect was gloomy almost to a point of being hopeless.

Then it was that Taft adopted his type of personal close-to-the-people campaign. He spent many days in Cleveland, talking to small and large crowds. He talked common sense. He evidently impressed his audiences by his patriotism, his sincerity and his knowledge of government. The result: five out of six delegates went to Taft.

So the general result of the Ohio balloting will probably leave Taft somewhat stronger and Stassen somewhat weaker although he continues a strong contender for the presidential nomination. He cannot, however, afford to receive too many Ohio-like setbacks, and Taft will have to show himself as having more general appeal than has been his up to now.

Another Vacation Period Approaching

With spring rapidly running its course summer cannot be far behind. And, summer, to the average American, connotes motoring and out-of-door activities. Except for the school set, young and older, vacations are fleeting intervals, but Americans constantly strive to extend them throughout the summer by weekend trips, half-day outings and a few days spent here and there. All of which fails to satisfy the average person's longing to be in the open, away from the heat, vexations and noise of the city. This is an attitude that the farmer will never be able to understand.

This summer will again see Americans take to the road near and far from home, with ocean trips confined to a special few. Conditions abroad are not calculated to set a great hegira of Americans to Europe in motion.

But the working over vacation spots in this country will receive will again be a matter of astonishment to the natives. Beach and mountain will see a movement of Americans by car, train, bus and plane that is likely to eclipse the record set last year. Many persons will make beelines for old haunts, many others will try something different in a new setting.

All indications point to inadequate accommodations, as usual. It has not been possible to augment tourist and vacation facilities to meet the postwar demand. Doing vacation stopping early will again be the rule of those who hie themselves way from home this summer.

Police State Music

Russia's plea to composers of the world to write more music for the people was not well received by musicians in the United States. It was badly timed, for one thing.

The Soviet Union has been disciplining its own musicians, firing them from jobs and threatening them with dire punishment for writing the "wrong" kind of music, forcing them to confess their "faults" and promise to be good little composers.

The creative and artistic drives in man do not flourish well under that sort of bludgeoning, and American composers know it. So do students of the Renaissance, who recall the outpouring of creative forces that came when superimposed restrictions were removed.

Hence Russia's suggestion to free musicians that they do voluntarily what Soviet musicians are being forced to do was bound to arouse antagonism.

The upper branches of art may reach the clouds, but art never completely divorces itself from the people, when it is both free and unconfused. Perhaps some modern music, pasing through the confusion of a period of transition to escape the empty repetition of classical cliches, needs to come closer to the ground.

But what the Russians really seem to want is for music to come closer to politics. Art has no business doing that. As Composer Douglas Moore of Columbia University put it: "It's perfectly absurd to have a party line about an abstract art."

And Composer Wiliam Schuman of the Julliard School also refused to discuss art in political terms. He commented: "The challenge for the composer today is the same as it has always been—to write the best music of which he is capable in terms of his own integrity as artist and man."

Secret police can hardly contribute as much to the improvement of American music as can musicians and music critics.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Stutterer Personality

The emotions play a role in the faculty of speech as this factor alone is responsible for our most common speech difficulty—stuttering. In individuals with this disorder, the flow of conversation is interrupted by repetition or blockage of words. Many are bothered also with other manifestations such as tics or muscular twitchings of the face.

Dr. Van Dellen

Authorities differ as to the exact cause but none will deny that practically all confirmed stutterers are tense, insecure, highly excitable, or emotionally unstable. In the vast majority, symptoms have been present since childhood and 65 per cent tell of having parents who, at one time or another, were afflicted. This suggests a hereditary tendency but it is well known that inheritance is not the sole culprit.

•—•—•

Signs of maladjustment are exhibited by youngsters long before speech disturbances arise. Such tots presented many problems in behavior that were not handled properly. Most of these irregularities revolved around eating, sleeping, elimination, temper tantrums, thumbsucking, etc. Stuttering was finally added and it was here that the child often developed the greatest sense of inadequacy because it did not take long for him to realize that he was different from other children. This was true particularly when playmates and even parents made him conscious of the defect by mimicking or correcting him continually.

Then the vicious cycle began. As the penalties for stuttering grew, so did his feeling of inadequacy. This in turn gave rise to uncontrollable anxiety because now the youngster began to anticipate trouble and, when it occurred, his tension was further increased. In time, fear became more dominant and, if unchecked, began to warp his personality. The final result is a full-blown neurosis which all too frequently resists treatment.

In the early stages, much can be done through a regimen of rest, relaxation, and talking more slowly. If the home environment is unhappy and filled with stress, tension, and disorganization corrections are in order. The victim must be given the impression that he is wanted and loved in spite of his infirmity. Encouragement in capital letters is equally important so that a sense of achievement is attained. This means that the parents must take the time to discover or else create tasks that the boy can do and let him know in no uncertain terms that the results are good and appreciated.

A confirmed stutterer needs the same help but in many instances it is too late because the habit patterns and emotional reactions are so firmly entrenched that they cannot be altered by ordinary means. Nevertheless, if improvement is to follow, defeatist attitudes must be replaced with a more healthful and constructive outlook.

Group psychotherapy is said to work well and has been used for some time in the National hospital for speech disorders. The "students" are all brought together in a social setting, with the physician directing the meeting. The sufferer discovers that he is not an unusual specimen or curio. Furthermore, he is among friends, for the hostile aspects of the outer world have been eliminated. As his difficulties are ironed out, he progresses to a more advanced group, depending upon his ability to withstand the increased pressures found therein. Later he attends club activities, dramatics, and dancing; as he acquires a more mature and stable personality, his speech defect becomes less bothersome.

SPREAD OF MEASLES

P. G. writes: Do you believe that it is safe for parents and other members of a family where there is a case of measles to go visiting, the movies, etc.

Reply

There is no danger because measles is rarely transmitted by a third party.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I've just read where individual birthday cakes . . . a new high in recruiting inducements . . . have been ordered for all enlisted men at several of the country's air bases.

And that's not all . . . if you join up real soon, I hear a second lieutenant will help you blow out the candles.

If these inducements keep up, the Army probably will soon be eliminating the bugle for reveille. Instead, Guy Lombardo's band will play "O What A Beautiful Morning" and the First Sgt. will tap you gently on the shoulder and whisper in your ear, "Sir . . . Your bath is ready."

And of course, there probably won't be any more three-day passes. When you ask for a leave, the C. O. will just say, "Have fun . . . and drop back any time."

That's not all . . . each barrack will have a croupier for the dice game so the fellows won't have to bend.

And the paratroopers will have it easier, too. They'll all be issued elevator jumping shoes so they won't have so far to fall.

I played a few camps recently and I noticed the change. When I came on I heard one guy say to another, "Let's resign from the army. . . . it's getting rough again."

THE STORM BLOWS OVER

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Lobbying Has Become Capital's No. 1 Industry; Oil Lobby Now Concentrating On Tidelands Oil; Sen. Ed Moore Is Lobby's Front-Line Commander

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 9—No. 1 industry in the nation's Capital has now become lobbying. Despite the lobbying act, the hotels, the cocktail lounges, the corridors of Congress now swarm with more of these oleaginous back-slappers than during the war. Standing out above the rest is the oil lobby—king pin of them all.

The oil lobby has just scored one great victory — Palestine — about which more later. Now it's concentrating on perhaps the richest of all prizes—tidelands oil.

Tidelands oil, the great continental shelf extending under the water off the Pacific and Gulf coasts, is estimated by some as more valuable than Arabia and the oil fields of the United States combined. Around 100 billion barrels lie buried in these underwater oil fields, as against only 20 billion barrels remaining in the dry-land oil fields of the United States.

"The petroleum resources of the continental shelf are ours to exploit whenever to expoit them becomes worth while," said Standard Oil in a statement to stockholders. And since the Supreme Court now takes a contrary view that the Continental Shelf belongs to the federal government, not the states, the oil lobby is focusing all its power on a bill introduced by Senator Moore of Oklahoma, himself an oilman, which would reverse the Supreme Court.

Having reversed the United Nations on Palestine, the oil lobbyists quite openly boast that they can put a law through Congress reversing the highest tribunal of the land.

The Lobbyist Army

Like a well-organized army, the oil lobby operates through a front-line commander, shock troops, deputy commanders, plus psychological warfare agents, financial backers, and camp followers.

Front-line commander—is Senator Ed Moore, Oklahoma Republican, who made millions out of oil, is about to retire from the Senate, doesn't care what the voters think of him, and has introduced bill 1988 turning the continental oil shelf of the United States back to the states—chiefly to California and Texas. Senator Moore was able to afford a $25,000 contribution to Senator Pappy O'Daniel's radio fund in 1944.

Shock troop commander — is Walter Johnson, Attorney General of Nebraska, who draws a salary of $1,500 a month from the oil lobby and spends part of his time in Washington directing its legislative battle, despite the fact that he is supposed to be attending to the law business of Nebraska.

Just why Nebraska, a land-locked state, with no oil lands remotely near the sea, should be so interested in the tide-lands-oil bill, is difficult for the average person to understand. The reasons and ramifications will become evident later.

Deputy shock troop commander—is William W. Clary, Assistant Attorney General of California. Although working for the state of California and paid $6,500 a year by the taxpayers of that state, Clary also works for the law firm of O'Malvoney and Myers which in turn represents 23 oil and utility companies, most of which will profit from tidelands oil. A lush bonanza of $270,000 in attorney's fees was dropped into the lap of Mr. Clary and his associates by various clients last year and Mr. Clary even explains that he pays his salary as a state official into his law firm's kitty, splitting it with his partners.

How these state officials can get away with working for their state governments and for the oil companies at one and the same time is not only interesting but indicates why the oil companies are so anxious for state control of tidelands oil. State officials will be so nice and easy to get along with.

Jailed As German Agents

Psychological warfare chief—is Dr. Edward A. Rumely, once jailed for concealing his operations for Germany during World War I, later pardoned, and now amazingly and sanctimoniously successful at enticing all sorts of people to put money into the tidelands-oil fight.

Rumely employs a staff of 50 people to shovel out propaganda to the American public, and has a neat game whereby big businessmen can buy up his literature for so-called "educational" purposes and send it to schools and colleges. This makes it deductible from income taxes.

Rumely has done a skillful job of deluging an unsuspecting public with propaganda, especially doctors and lawyers, and many people have fallen for it.

The Camp Followers

One of Rumley's camp followers and assistant propagandists is amiable Homer Dodge, ex-Washington newsman, frequently seen in the National Press Club, and who drew $2,073 from Rumley's committee for constitutional government during the last three months of 1947.

Another deputy in the army of oil-lobby propagandists is able Eugene Kelly, another ex-Washington newspaperman, who was hired by Attorney General Fred Howser of California at $500 a week. Admitting this to a Senate committee, Howser explained:

"The money has not been appropriated nor have I obtained it from the state of California. I must go home and get it for him."

Howser did go home, and did get the money appropriated—$43,000 by the California legislature. However, when it was reported that $25,000 of this was "ear-marked for lunches and entertainment of Congressmen," California Congressmen raised cain and Governor Warren, in the end, vetoed the bill.

This leaves Attorney General Howser, Eugene Kelly and some of the other eager battlers in the army for tidelands oil, with a big hole in their pockets—at least theoretically. From a practical viewpoint undoubtedly the oil companies will fill up the hole.

That is just a brief bird's-eye view of the most skillfully organized lobby which has ever wrapped California's Sheridan Downey around its little finger. More about the lobby which plans to have its cake and eat it too—Arabian and tidelands oil—will follow soon.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Trieste

Something has happened here in the last few days which might have a significance extending well beyond the constricted borders of the miscalled "Free Territory of Trieste." The event was a sudden shift of the Communist party line. It deserves the closest study, for the shifts of the party line are the best clues to the strategy of the Kremlin.

Until last week, the Trieste Communist press, subsidized in part by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, was talking very tough indeed. To the usual shrill abuse of "Anglo-American policy and military brutality" was added a barely concealed threat. The Communist papers shrieked "the workers" would "never permit" the Anglo-American outrages. More specifically, there were repeated appeals for mass demonstrations in the Piazza Unita, in the center of the city. The Allied military government had ruled that for a period including May Day, Communist demonstrations must be confined to another section of the city. Thus the authority of the military government was directly challenged.

But if the public Communist line was tough, the private line—the line taken behind closed doors—was even tougher. There is no doubt that plans were laid, and order issued, for a showdown with the Anglo-American authority. It is known that one of the Trieste Communist party's satraps sent the word down the line that May 1 was to mark the beginning of a violent campaign to undermine that authority.

In the lower echelons, in the Communist cells, "agitprops" and activists explained the necessity for violence. The Italian elections, they argued, had finally shown that the party could never come to power except by force. The cases of Hungary and Czechoslovakia were used to underline this conclusion. In those countries, it was pointed out, the "workers" had seized power from "reactionaries," and the Communist party was thereafter certain of a majority in any election. Thus, henceforth, the Trieste Communists must be ready to take up arms, and to "break reactionary heads."

Moreover, preparations for transforming tough talk into tough action were undertaken. In Trieste's Communist section (known, as in every city in Europe, as "Little Stalingrad") sleeping quarters were assigned for contingents of Slav thugs. These were to be infiltrated from the Yugoslav zone, to reinforce the native Trieste Communists in the "direct action" which had been planned. There is little wonder that only last week real trouble in Trieste seemed more than possible.

Yet on April 29th, observers noted with interest, the Communist press suddenly began to sing small. The abuse of the "Anglo-American imperialists" automatically persisted. But the threats of open defiance of the authority of the Allied military government were suddenly absent.

On May 1st there was the usual demonstration, complete with speeches, banners, scantily clad anti-facist females and even more scantily clad Communist athletes. But the demonstration was carefully confined to the areas assigned to the Communists. Nothing more lethal than a bottle of red ink was thrown. As such things go, the show was a flop, dismal and spottily attended. Moreover, in the days which have since passed, days which were to mark the beginning of the all-out campaign against the Anglo-American government, a total of faintly nervous quiet has reigned in Trieste. Obviously, the Communist campaign of violence has either been abandoned or indefinitely postponed.

There are several purely local interpretations which can be placed upon this sudden docility, this unexpected mildness, of the Trieste Communists. For example, the higher headquarters of the Trieste Communist party is known to be located in Belgrade, Marshal Tito's capital. It may be that the tough talk here was a private venture of the Yugoslav chieftain's.

Tito may have wished to feel out the Anglo-American occupation authorities in Trieste, hoping that they would show weakness, and give him a chance for another grab at Trieste. It is a theory generally held among experts that the Kremlin's major satraps like Tito are given a certain limited freedom of action, with the strict proviso that they do not involve themselves in serious trouble. The reversal of the Trieste Communist policy would then be explained on the basis that Tito was frightened off by the obvious firmness of the able American General Bryant Moore and British General Terence Airey.

It is also possible, however—perhaps even probable—that what has happened in Trieste reflects a major shift in the Communist line in all of western Europe. Weight is given to this interpretation by the fact that a similar sequence of events has taken place in Italy: tough talk, preparation for tough action, and then, after repeated visits by Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti to the Soviet Embassy, nothing. The suspicion naturally arises that the realists in the Kremlin have come to the conclusion that direct action by the Soviet Union or by the indigenous Communist parties to achieve Soviet domination of Europe is now certain to fail.

If this is correct—if the Communist party line has been genuinely changed—we are entering a period sharply different in political atmosphere from the recent past.

More Good Years Possible If We Are Willing To Pay Price

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 9.—I have today returned from a trip throughout the great Central West, —the "Magic Circle" of America. During the winter in Florida, I was rather blue due to the waste and indifference that I saw there. On Saint Patrick's Day, however, I heard a message of courage and decision broadcast to the world by our Chief Executive and Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces. If this has aroused the U.S.A. to new purpose and productivity as it aroused me, good times for the next few years are "possible".—Provided: We can match our new found faith with a proportionate output of good will—and goods!

Good Times "Possible"

Readers of this column will recall that repeatedly I have stressed, if production fails to keep pace with demand, all of us could be caught up in a tornado of inflation —the vicious "boom and bust" spiral. Furthermore, the threat of communism and other storm-clouds had also darkened our outlook for the nearby nineteen-fifties. Therefore, I had been distressed for sometime by the "take-it-easy" attitude of our people.

My trip of the past few weeks has changed my attitude and strengthened my faith. I found that President Truman—with that speech—pepped up the entire nation. I found farmers, ranchers, merchants, manufacturers and even hard-boiled bankers in a new and better mood. They—like myself—are more hopeful than for two years.

Need Of More Capital

I am heartily in accord with the growing conviction that a great demand of the period next ahead will be a universal desire and need for capital. Not even the impenetrable Iron Curtain can conceal the fact that Russians, Americans and all other divisions of the globe are subject to the same Iron Law! Namely: People cannot keep on forever consuming and-or exporting more than they produce. It is the old axiom of "Root, hog, or die." It matters little in what part of the world you set the pig trough. Yet capital cannot be manufactured by your local banker. It must be saved by you and me.

Hence, in this old-new world of ours today, we have the ironic situation that the UNITED States, the UNITED Kingdom and the U.S.S.R., tomorrow will be united in their common need for capital. How earth is humanity—whether East West—to get this capital, this lif blood of the world's economic f ture? Only by all of producing mo than we consume, and allowing t surplus to accumulate. Everyone business these days is in the sa boat, eager to get more capital, one form or another. It is the co mon story, from wholesaler to tailer, from Maine to Californ from Moscow, U.S.S.R. to Washin ton, D. C.

Who Among Us Are "Producers"

Another thing: We must acce the economic truth that in a peri of prosperity people will not be co tent with a mere "something eat". Alert and informed famil will ask more about the nutritio values of the soils where their goo are grown. Hence, I predict th housewives of the "fifties" will b come students of the principle th good foods originate in good soi The agriculture of the "fifties" w tend toward a combine of engine ing and organic chemistry. Th there are hundreds of importa new inventions ready to come on t market.

The day is dawning when we sh classify as "producers" not o farmers, manufacturers and mine —but all who apply integrity a ability to the betterment of t country. "Producers" are those w unite to produce superior goods an or services at efficient costs. Th with the help of the teachers a preachers are the hope of Ameri

Price of Prosperity? Productivity

Yes, I now feel that more go years are possible, but like so ma other good things, they are to had only if we are willing to pay t price. Looking forward to the pote tial prosperity of the ninetee fifties, the price-tag is marked bold letters for all to read. It sa We all must produce more and sa more. Here, then is the neighbo advice which I am giving,—a trying to take myself.

Do not look backward up things-as-they-were, however p cious the memories, nor struggle keep things-as-the-are. Rather, le all unite to create new highs in li ing standards, including standar both material and spiritual. Wo and faith are the first and fir securities. If we put those fi things first, the nineteen-fifties c be good to us all and we can forg "boom and bust" for awhile at lea

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Demosthenes Said It

SOME tales are as old as the earth itself. The other night, wearied of the endlessness of the debate in UN and the primaries and Stassen and Eisenhower and all that, I pulled Demosthenes off the shelf and read of Henry Wallace. Of course, Demosthenes knew nothing of the Mundt Bill, but he did say:

" you think it so necessary to grant general freedom of speech to everyone in Athens that you even allow aliens and slaves to share in the privilege, and many menials may be observed among you speaking their minds with more liberty than citizens enjoy in other states."

Then the ancient orator got on to the subject of the day, which was the evils of Stalin—I mean, Philip of Macedon. Demosthenes put it this way:

" . . . If needed Athens can remain at peace and if the choice rests with us . . . I personally feel that we are bound to do so; and if anyone says that we can, I call upon him to move a resolution and to do something and to play us no tricks; but if there is another person concerned, with sword in hand and a mighty force at his back, who imposes on you with the name of peace but himself indulges in acts of war, what is left but to defend ourselves? If you choose to follow his example and profess that you are at peace, I raise no objection. But if anyone mistakes for peace an arrangement which will enable Philip, when he has seized everything else, to march upon us, he has taken leave of his senses, and the peace that he talks of is one that you observe towards Philip, but not Philip towards you. That is the advantage which he is purchasing by all his expenditures of money—that he should be at war with you, but that you should not be at war with him.

"If we are going to wait for him to acknowledge a state of war with us, we are indeed the simplest of mortals; for even if he marches straight against Attica and the Piraeus, he will not admit it. "

Then the orator advises the Athenian Assembly:

"But it is not enough . . . even to oppose him with active military measures, but both from calculation and on principle you must show your hatred of those who speak publicly on his behalf; and you must reflect that it is impossible to defeat the enemies of our city until you have chastised those who within our very walls make themselves their servants. And that, as all Heaven is my witness, you will never be able to do; but you have reached such a height of folly or of madness or—I know not what to call it, for this fear too has often haunted me, that some demon is driving you to your doom, that fro love of calumny or envy or ribal ry, or whatever your motive m be, your clamour for a spee from these hirelings, some of wh would not even disclaim that tit and you desire amusement fr their vituperations. This is serio enough, but there is worse to fo low; for you have granted to t men more security for the pu ance of their policy than to yo own defenders, . . ."

Have I quoted too lengthily? Well, my brethren, no one ever discussed this question more ably than did Demosthenes. And maybe he was a bore, as some of us have been since 1917, when we began cautioning the Western World of the horrible specter of immorality that was blowing westward off the Eurasian steppes.

You can be as reasonable as yo chose, but when a terrific ca paign is organized to kill the m tion picture, "The Iron Curtai which every American must see a take his children to see, then w want to know what are the motiv of the suppressors and boycotters.

These creatures pretend that they oppose this movie because they hate war, but we have long learned to suspect those who say that they hate war only to prevent us from building our defenses. We know that they want us to be weak, so that our enemy might more readily build his power.

Stassen Still Strong; Taft Strengthens Case

The outcome of the Ohio primary has left both Harold W. Stassen and the state's "favorite son" for the presidency, Senator Robert F. Taft, more or less satisfied, but one thing must be said and that is that the Buckeye State Senator succeeded in slowing down the former Minnesota governor's bandwagon.

Mr. SHtassen, two weeks before the primary, set a standard for what he would regard as success in the voting. He said he would consider the result a victory if he carried half, or even eleven, of the contested district delegates and if his single candidate for delegate-at-large got as many votes as the average for the nine Taft delegates-at-large. In other words, twelve votes or more would be a successful outcome from his viewpoint.

He won nine district delegates but lost his delegate-at-large candidate—not too impressive a showing.

On the other hand, from the Taft viewpoint, we would say the result was satisfactory but not uproariously so. The senior Senator from Ohio met the full brunt of an attack by an opponent who flushed with recent successes in Wisconsin and Nebraska. In a close-to-the-people campaign Taft would seem to have stopped the attack and a little more. Stassen didn't do so badly but he certainly lost a good deal of the bloom of a young political conqueror with which he entered the Ohio campaign.

The vote in three Cleveland districts was significant. It is often repeated that Taft is a poor campaigner, with no vote appeal, and three weeks before the balloting began it was common knowledge that prospects for the Senator were bad in Cleveland. On occasion the city by Lake Erie has shown a considerable capacity for being unfriendly to Republicans. It is the opinion of political observers that had it not been for the situation in Clevland, Stassen would not have made a contest in Ohio at all. There were sharp differences among Taft's friends regarding measures and methods to be used in the campaign. The prospect was gloomy almost to a point of being hopeless.

Then it was that Taft adopted his type of personal close-to-the-people campaign. He spent many days in Cleveland, talking to small and large crowds. He talked common sense. He evidently impressed his audiences by his patriotism, his sincerity and his knowledge of government. The result: five out of six delegates went to Taft.

So the general result of the Ohio balloting will probably leave Taft somewhat stronger and Stassen somewhat weaker although he continues a strong contender for the presidential nomination. He cannot, however, afford to receive too many Ohio-like setbacks, and Taft will have to show himself as having more general appeal than has been his up to now.

Another Vacation Period Approaching

With spring rapidly running its course summer cannot be far behind. And, summer, to the average American, connotes motoring and out-of-door activities. Except for the school set, young and older, vacations are fleeting intervals, but Americans constantly strive to extend them throughout the summer by weekend trips, half-day outings and a few days spent here and there. All of which fails to satisfy the average person's longing to be in the open, away from the heat, vexations and noise of the city. This is an attitude that the farmer will never be able to understand.

This summer will again see Americans take to the road near and far from home, with ocean trips confined to a special few. Conditions abroad are not calculated to set a great hegira of Americans to Europe in motion.

But the working over vacation spots in this country will receive will again be a matter of astonishment to the natives. Beach and mountain will see a movement of Americans by car, train, bus and plane that is likely to eclipse the record set last year. Many persons will make beelines for old haunts, many others will try something different in a new setting.

All indications point to inadequate accommodations, as usual. It has not been possible to augment tourist and vacation facilities to meet the postwar demand. Doing vacation stopping early will again be the rule of those who hie themselves way from home this summer.

Police State Music

Russia's plea to composers of the world to write more music for the people was not well received by musicians in the United States. It was badly timed, for one thing.

The Soviet Union has been disciplining its own musicians, firing them from jobs and threatening them with dire punishment for writing the "wrong" kind of music, forcing them to confess their "faults" and promise to be good little composers.

The creative and artistic drives in man do not flourish well under that sort of bludgeoning, and American composers know it. So do students of the Renaissance, who recall the outpouring of creative forces that came when superimposed restrictions were removed.

Hence Russia's suggestion to free musicians that they do voluntarily what Soviet musicians are being forced to do was bound to arouse antagonism.

The upper branches of art may reach the clouds, but art never completely divorces itself from the people, when it is both free and unconfused. Perhaps some modern music, pasing through the confusion of a period of transition to escape the empty repetition of classical cliches, needs to come closer to the ground.

But what the Russians really seem to want is for music to come closer to politics. Art has no business doing that. As Composer Douglas Moore of Columbia University put it: "It's perfectly absurd to have a party line about an abstract art."

And Composer Willam Schuman of the Julliard School also refused to discuss art in political terms. He commented: "The challenge for the composer today is the same as it has always been—to write the best music of which he is capable in terms of his own integrity as artist and man."

Secret police can hardly contribute as much to the improvement of American music as can musicians and music critics.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Stutterer Personality

The emotions play a role in the faculty of speech as this factor alone is responsible for our most common speech difficulty—stuttering. In individuals with this disorder, the flow of conversation is interrupted by repetition or blockage of words. Many are bothered also with other manifestations such as tics or muscular twitchings of the face.

Dr. Van Dellen

Authorities differ as to the exact cause but none will deny that practically all confirmed stutterers are tense, insecure, highly excitable, or emotionally unstable. In the vast majority, symptoms have been present since childhood and 65 per cent tell of having parents who, at one time or another, were afflicted. This suggests a hereditary tendency but it is well known that inheritance is not the sole culprit.

●—●—●

Signs of maladjustment are exhibited by youngsters long before speech disturbances arise. Such tots presented many problems in behavior that were not handled properly. Most of these irregularities revolved around eating, sleeping, elimination, temper tantrums, thumbsucking, etc. Stuttering was finally added and it was here that the child often developed the greatest sense of inadequacy because it did not take long for him to realize that he was different from other children. This was true particularly when playmates and even parents made him conscious of the defect by mimicking or correcting him continually.

Then the vicious cycle began. As the penalties for stuttering grew, so did his feeling of inadequacy. This in turn gave rise to uncontrollable anxiety because now the youngster began to anticipate trouble and, when it occurred, his tension was further increased. In time, fear became more dominant and, if unchecked, began to warp his personality. The final result is a full-blown neurosis which all too frequently resists treatment.

In the early stages, much can be done through a regimen of rest, relaxation, and talking more slowly. If the home environment is unhappy and filled with stress, tension, and disorganization corrections are in order. The victim must be given the impression that he is wanted and loved in spite of his infirmity. Encouragement in capital letters is equally important so that a sense of achievement is attained. This means that the parents must take the time to discover or else create tasks that the boy can do and let him know in no uncertain terms that the results are good and appreciated.

A confirmed stutterer needs the same help but in many instances it is too late because the habit patterns and emotional reactions are so firmly entrenched that they cannot be altered by ordinary means. Nevertheless, if improvement is to follow, defeatist attitudes must be replaced with a more healthful and constructive outlook.

Group psychotherapy is said to work well and has been used for some time in the National hospital for speech disorders. The "students" are all brought together in a social setting, with the physician directing the meeting. The sufferer discovers that he is not an unusual specimen or curio. Furthermore, he is among friends, for the hostile aspects of the outer world have been eliminated. As his difficulties are ironed out, he progresses to a more advanced group, depending upon his ability to withstand the increased pressures found therein. Later he attends club activities, dramatics, and dancing; as he acquires a more mature and stable personality, his speech defect becomes less bothersome.

SPREAD OF MEASLES

P. G. writes: Do you believe that it is safe for parents and other members of a family where there is a case of measles to go visiting, the movies, etc.

Reply

There is no danger because measles is rarely transmitted by a third party.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I've just read where individual birthday cakes . . . a new high in recruiting inducements . . . have been ordered for all enlisted men at several of the country's air bases.

And that's not all . . . if you join up real soon, I hear a second lieutenant will help you blow out the candles.

If these inducements keep up, the Army probably will soon be eliminating the bugle for reveille. Instead, Guy Lombardo's band will play "O What A Beautiful Morning" and the First Sgt. will tap you gently on the shoulder and whisper in your ear, "Sir . . . Your bath is ready."

And of course, there probably won't be any more three-day passes. When you ask for a leave, the C. O. will just say, "Have fun . . . and drop back any time."

That's not all . . . each barrack will have a croupier for the dice game so the fellows won't have to bend.

And the paratroopers will have it easier, too. They'll all be issued elevator jumping shoes so they won't have so far to fall.

I played a few camps recently and I noticed the change. When I came on I heard one guy say to another, "Let's resign from the army. . . . it's getting rough again."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Lobbying Has Become Capital's No. 1 Industry; Oil Lobby Now Concentrating On Tidelands Oil; Sen. Ed Moore Is Lobby's Front-Line Commander

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 9—No. 1 industry in the nation's Capital has now become lobbying. Despite the lobbying act, the hotels, the cocktail lounges, the corridors of Congress now swarm with more of these oleaginous back-slappers than during the war. Standing out above the rest is the oil lobby—king pin of them all.

The oil lobby has just scored one great victory — Palestine — about which more later. Now it's concentrating on perhaps the richest of all prizes—tidelands oil.

Tidelands oil, the great continental shelf extending under the water off the Pacific and Gulf coasts, is estimated by some as more valuable than Arabia and the oil fields of the United States combined. Around 100 billion barrels lie buried in these underwater oil fields, as against only 20 billion barrels remaining in the dry-land oil fields of the United States.

"The petroleum resources of the continental shelf are ours to exploit whenever to expoit them becomes worth while," said Standard Oil in a statement to stockholders. And since the Supreme Court now takes a contrary view that the Continental Shelf belongs to the federal government, not the states, the oil lobby is focusing all its power on a bill introduced by Senator Moore of Oklahoma, himself an oilman, which would reverse the Supreme Court.

Having reversed the United Nations on Palestine, the oil lobbyists quite openly boast that they can put a law through Congress reversing the highest tribunal of the land.

The Lobbyist Army

Like a well-organized army, the oil lobby operates through a front-line commander, shock troops, deputy commanders, plus psychological warfare agents, financial backers, and camp followers.

Front-line commander—is Senator Ed Moore, Oklahoma Republican, who made millions out of oil, is about to retire from the Senate, doesn't care what the voters think of him, and has introduced bill 1988 turning the continental oil shelf of the United States back to the states—chiefly to California and Texas. Senator Moore was able to afford a $25,000 contribution to Senator Pappy O'Daniel's radio fund in 1944.

Shock troop commander — is Walter Johnson, Attorney General of Nebraska, who draws a salary of $1,500 a month from the oil lobby and spends part of his time in Washington directing its legislative battle, despite the fact that he is supposed to be attending to the law business of Nebraska.

Just why Nebraska, a land-locked state, with no oil lands remotely near the sea, should be so interested in the tidelands-oil bill, is difficult for the average person to understand. The reasons and ramifications will become evident later.

Deputy shock troop commander—is William W. Clary, Assistant Attorney General of California. Although working for the state of California and paid $6,500 a year by the taxpayers of that state, Clary also works for the law firm of O'Malvoney and Myers which in turn represents 23 oil and utility companies, most of which will profit from tidelands oil. A lush bonanza of $270,000 in attorney's fees was dropped into the lap of Mr. Clary and his associates by various clients last year and Mr. Clary even explains that he pays his salary as a state official into his law firm's kitty, splitting it with his partners.

How these state officials can get away with working for their state governments and for the oil companies at one and the same time is not only interesting but indicates why the oil companies are so anxious for state control of tidelands oil. State officials will be so nice and easy to get along with.

Jailed As German Agents

Psychological warfare chief—is Dr. Edward A. Rumely, once jailed for concealing his operations for Germany during World War I, later pardoned, and now amazingly and sanctimoniously successful at enticing all sorts of people to put money into the tidelands-oil fight.

Rumely employs a staff of 50 people to shovel out propaganda to the American public, and has a neat game whereby big businessmen can buy up his literature for so-called "educational" purposes and send it to schools and colleges. This makes it deductible from income taxes.

Rumely has done a skillful job of deluging an unsuspecting public with propaganda, especially doctors and lawyers, and many people have fallen for it.

The Camp Followers

One of Rumley's camp followers and assistant propagandists is amiable Homer Dodge, ex-Washington newsman, frequently seen in the National Press Club, and who drew $2,073 from Rumley's committee for constitutional government during the last three months of 1947.

Another deputy in the army of oil-lobby propagandists is able Eugene Kelly, another ex-Washington newspaperman, who was hired by Attorney General Fred Howser of California at $500 a week. Admitting this to a Senate committee, Howser explained:

"The money has not been appropriated nor have I obtained it from the state of California. I must go home and get it for him."

Howser did go home, and did get the money appropriated—$43,000 by the California legislature. However, when it was reported that $25,000 of this was "ear-marked for lunches and entertainment of Congressmen," California Congressmen raised cain and Governor Warren, in the end, vetoed the bill.

This leaves Attorney General Howser, Eugene Kelly and some of the other eager battlers in the army for tidelands oil, with a big hole in their pockets—at least theoretically. From a practical viewpoint undoubtedly the oil companies will fill up the hole.

That is just a brief bird's-eye view of the most skillfully organized lobby which has ever wrapped California's Sheridan Downey around its little finger. More about the lobby which plans to have its cake and eat it too—Arabian and tidelands oil—will follow soon.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Trieste

Something has happened here in the last few days which might have a significance extending well beyond the constricted borders of the miscalled "Free Territory of Trieste." The event was a sudden shift of the Communist party line. It deserves the closest study, for the shifts of the party line are the best clues to the strategy of the Kremlin.

Until last week, the Trieste Communist press, subsidized in part by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, was talking very tough indeed. To the usual shrill abuse of "Anglo-American policy and military brutality" was added a barely concealed threat. The Communist papers shrieked "the workers" would "never permit" the Anglo-American outrages. More specifically, there were repeated appeals for mass demonstrations in the Piazza Unita, in the center of the city. The Allied military government had ruled that for a period including May Day, Communist demonstrations must be confined to another section of the city. Thus the authority of the military government was directly challenged.

But if the public Communist line was tough, the private line—the line taken behind closed doors—was even tougher. There is no doubt that plans were laid, and order issued, for a showdown with the Anglo-American authority. It is known that one of the Trieste Communist party's satraps sent the word down the line that May 1 was to mark the beginning of a violent campaign to undermine that authority.

In the lower echelons, in the Communist cells, "agitprops" and activists explained the necessity for violence. The Italian elections, they argued, had finally shown that the party could never come to power except by force. The cases of Hungary and Czechoslovakia were used to underline this conclusion. In those countries, it was pointed out, the "workers" had seized power from "reactionaries," and the Communist party was thereafter certain of a majority in any election. Thus, henceforth, the Trieste Communists must be ready to take up arms, and to "break reactionary heads."

Moreover, preparations for transforming tough talk into tough action were undertaken. In Trieste's Communist section (known, as in every city in Europe, as "Little Stalingrad") sleeping quarters were assigned for contingents of Slav thugs. These were to be infiltrated from the Yugoslav zone, to reinforce the native Trieste Communists in the "direct action" which had been planned. There is little wonder that only last week real trouble in Trieste seemed more than possible.

Yet on April 29th, observers noted with interest, the Communist press suddenly began to sing small. The abuse of the "Anglo-American imperialists" automatically persisted. But the threats of open defiance of the authority of the Allied military government were suddenly absent.

On May 1st there was the usual demonstration, complete with speeches, banners, scantily clad anti-facist females and even more scantily clad Communist athletes. But the demonstration was carefully confined to the areas assigned to the Communists. Nothing more lethal than a bottle of red ink was thrown. As such things go, the show was a flop, dismal and spottily attended. Moreover, in the days which have since passed, days which were to mark the beginning of the all-out campaign against the Anglo-American government, a total of faintly nervous quiet has reigned in Trieste. Obviously, the Communist campaign of violence has either been abandoned or indefinitely postponed.

There are several purely local interpretations which can be placed upon this sudden docility, this unexpected mildness, of the Trieste Communists. For example, the higher headquarters of the Trieste Communist party is known to be located in Belgrade, Marshal Tito's capital. It may be that the tough talk here was a private venture of the Yugoslav chieftain's.

Tito may have wished to feel out the Anglo-American occupation authorities in Trieste, hoping that they would show weakness, and give him a chance for another grab at Trieste. It is a theory generally held among experts that the Kremlin's major satraps like Tito are given a certain limited freedom of action, with the strict proviso that they do not involve themselves in serious trouble. The reversal of the Trieste Communist policy would then be explained on the basis that Tito was frightened off by the obvious firmness of the able American General Bryant Moore and British General Terence Airey.

It is also possible, however—perhaps even probable—that what has happened in Trieste reflects a major shift in the Communist line in all of western Europe. Weight is given to this interpretation by the fact that a similar sequence of events has taken place in Italy: tough talk, preparation for tough action, and then, after repeated visits by Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti to the Soviet Embassy, nothing. The suspicion naturally arises that the realists in the Kremlin have come to the conclusion that direct action by the Soviet Union or by the indigenous Communist parties to achieve Soviet domination of Europe is now certain to fail.

If this is correct—if the Communist party line has been genuinely changed—we are entering a period sharply different in political atmosphere from the recent past.

More Good Years Possible If We Are Willing To Pay Price

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 9.—I have today returned from a trip throughout the great Central West, —the "Magic Circle" of America. During the winter in Florida, I was rather blue due to the waste and indifference that I saw there. On Saint Patrick's Day, however, I heard a message of courage and decision broadcast to the world by our Chief Executive and Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces. If this has aroused the U.S.A. to new purpose and productivity as it aroused me, good times for the next few years are "possible".—Provided: We can match our new found faith with a proportionate output of good will—and goods!

Good Times "Possible"

Readers of this column will recall that repeatedly I have stressed, if production fails to keep pace with demand, all of us could be caught up in a tornado of inflation —the vicious "boom and bust" spiral. Furthermore, the threat of communism and other storm-clouds had also darkened our outlook for the nearby nineteen-fifties. Therefore, I had been distressed for sometime by the "take-it-easy" attitude of our people.

My trip of the past few weeks has changed my attitude and strengthened my faith. I found that President Truman—with that speech—pepped up the entire nation. I found farmers, ranchers, merchants, manufacturers and even hard-boiled bankers in a new and better mood. They—like myself—are more hopeful than for two years.

Need Of More Capital

I am heartily in accord with the growing conviction that a great demand of the period next ahead will be a universal desire and need for capital. Not even the impenetrable Iron Curtain can conceal the fact that Russians, Americans and all other divisions of the globe are subject to the same Iron Law! Namely: People cannot keep on forever consuming and-or exporting more than they produce. It is the old axiom of "Root, hog, or die." It matters little in what part of the world you set the pig trough. Yet capital cannot be manufactured by your local banker. It must be saved by you and me.

Hence, in this old-new world of ours today, we have the ironic situation that the UNITED States, the UNITED Kingdom and the U.S.S.R., tomorrow will be united in their common need for capital. How earth is humanity—whether East West—to get this capital, this li blood of the world's economic f ture? Only by all of producing mo than we consume, and allowing surplus to accumulate. Everyone business these days is in the sa boat, eager to get more capital, one form or another. It is the co mon story, from wholesaler to tailer, from Maine to Californi from Moscow, U.S.S.R. to Washi ton, D. C.

Who Among Us Are "Producers"

Another thing: We must acce the economic truth that in a peri of prosperity people will not be co tent with a mere "something eat". Alert and informed famil will ask more about the nutritio values of the soils where their go are grown. Hence, I predict t housewives of the "fifties" will b come students of the principle t good foods originate in good so The agriculture of the "fifties" w tend toward a combine of engine ing and organic chemistry. Th there are hundreds of importa new inventions ready to come on t market.

The day is dawning when we sh classify as "producers" not o farmers, manufacturers and mine —but all who apply integrity a ability to the betterment of t country. "Producers" are those w unite to produce superior goods an or services at efficient costs. Th with the help of the teachers a preachers are the hope of Ameri

Yes, I now feel that more go years are possible, but like so ma other good things, they are to had only if we are willing to pay t price. Looking forward to the pote tial prosperity of the ninetee fifties, the price-tag is marked bold letters for all to read. It sa We all must produce more and sa more. Here, then is the neighbo advice which I am giving,—a trying to take myself.

Do not look backward up things-as-they-were, however p cious the memories, nor struggle keep things-as-the-are. Rather, le all unite to create new highs in li ing standards, including standar both material and spiritual. Wo and faith are the first and fi securities. If we put those fi things first, the nineteen-fifties c be good to us all and we can forg "boom and bust" for awhile at lea

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Demosthenes Said It

SOME tales are as old as the earth itself. The other night, wearied of the endlessness of the debate in UN and the primaries and Stassen and Eisenhower and all that, I pulled Demosthenes off the shelf and read of Henry Wallace. Of course, Demosthenes knew nothing of the Mundt Bill, but he did say:

" you think it so necessary to grant general freedom of speech to everyone in Athens that you even allow aliens and slaves to share in the privilege, and many menials may be observed among you speaking their minds with more liberty than citizens enjoy in other states."

Then the ancient orator got on to the subject of the day, which was the evils of Stalin—I mean, Philip of Macedon. Demosthenes put it this way:

" . . . If needed Athens can remain at peace and if the choice rests with us . . . I personally feel that we are bound to do so; and if anyone says that we can, I call upon him to move a resolution and to do something and to play us no tricks; but if there is another person concerned, with sword in hand and a mighty force at his back, who imposes on you with the name of peace but himself indulges in acts of war, what is left but to defend ourselves? If you choose to follow his example and profess that you are at peace, I raise no objection. But if anyone mistakes for peace an arrangement which will enable Philip, when he has seized everything else, to march upon us, he has taken leave of his senses, and the peace that he talks of is one that you observe towards Philip, but not Philip towards you. That is the advantage which he is purchasing by all his expenditures of money—that he should be at war with you, but that you should not be at war with him.

"If we are going to wait for him to acknowledge a state of war with us, we are indeed the simplest of mortals; for even if he marches straight against Attica and the Piraeus, he will not admit it. "

Then the orator advises the Athenian Assembly:

"But it is not enough . . . even to oppose him with active military measures, but both from calculation and on principle you must show your hatred of those who speak publicly on his behalf; and you must reflect that it is impossible to defeat the enemies of our city until you have chastised those who within our very walls make themselves their servants. And that, as all Heaven is my witness, you will never be able to do; but you have reached such a height of folly or of madness or—I know not what to call it, for this fear too has often haunted me, that some demon is driving you to your doom, that fro love of calumny or envy or ribal ry, or whatever your motive m be, your clamour for a spee from these hirelings, some of wh would not even disclaim that tit and you desire amusement fr their vituperations. This is serio enough, but there is worse to fo low; for you have granted to t men more security for the pu ance of their policy than to yo own defenders, . . ."

Have I quoted too lengthily? Well, my brethren, no one ever discussed this question more ably than did Demosthenes. And maybe he was a bore, as some of us have been since 1917, when we began cautioning the Western World of the horrible specter of immorality that was blowing westward off the Eurasian steppes.

You can be as reasonable as yo chose, but when a terrific ca paign is organized to kill the m tion picture, "The Iron Curtain which every American must see a take his children to see, then w want to know what are the motiv of the suppressors and boycotters.

These creatures pretend that they oppose this movie because they hate war, but we have long learned to suspect those who say that they hate war only to prevent us from building our defenses. We know that they want us to be weak, so that our enemy might more readily build his power.

REYNOLDS PROVES TO BE YANK ACE

By Walter L. Johns
Central Press Sports Editor

When the New York Yanks took Allie Pierce Reynolds from the Cleveland Indians Oct. 19, 1946, in a trade for the unhappy Joe Gordon and Infielder Ed Bockman, the Yanks profited to the extent that the righthander helped the Bombers to a pennant.

Not that it wasn't a good trade for the Indians, perhaps, for Gordon proved to be one of the stars of the Tribal entourage, smashing out 29 home runs and driving in 93 markers. But Cleveland didn't win the pennant and the Yanks did.

Today, it appears the Yanks really did all right by the deal, for Reynolds has proven to be the most consistent Yankee winner on the staff. The fireballer has won three straight and may be the boy to lead the New Yorkers to another pennant at a time when the Indians need pitching help.

Workhorse of the Yank staff last year when he participated in 34 games, hurled 242 innings and won 19 games against eight losses, Reynolds turned in his best year in the majors. He had the benefit, however, of some timely Yankee hitting.

This is Reynolds' seventh season in the majors. As a member of the Indians in 1943 he led the league in strikeouts, getting 151 batters to bite the dust.

Of Irish-Indian-English descent, Reynolds broke into professional baseball with Springfield of the Middle-Atlantic league in 1939 and moved up through the Cleveland farms at Cedar Rapids and Wilkes-Barre, being brought up to the parent club in 1942 after he had won 18 games for Wilkes-Barre.

Reynolds was regular starting pitcher for the Tribe in 1943-44-45-46, turning in his best effort with the Indians in 1945 when he won 18 games.

The husky righthander received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1940, a year after he had started his baseball career.

Reynolds is 29 and makes his home in Oklahoma City.

AMBIDEXTROUS-- Kenneth Thompson is making quite a record for himself as a pitcher for the Windsor, N. C., high school team. He began pitching as a righthander and suddenly developed into a southpaw thrower. He utilizes both in a game, pitching lefthanded to portside batters and righthanded to the righthanded batters. He has allowed only five hits in six games. (International)

REYNOLDS PROVES TO BE YANK ACE

By Walter L. Johns
Central Press Sports Editor

When the New York Yanks took Allie Pierce Reynolds from the Cleveland Indians Oct. 19, 1946, in a trade for the unhappy Joe Gordon and Infielder Ed Bockman, the Yanks profited to the extent that the righthander helped the Bombers to a pennant.

Not that it wasn't a good trade for the Indians, perhaps, for Gordon proved to be one of the stars of the Tribal entourage, smashing out 29 home runs and driving in 93 markers. But Cleveland didn't win the pennant and the Yanks did.

Today, it appears the Yanks really did all right by the deal, for Reynolds has proven to be the most consistent Yankee winner on the staff. The fireballer has won three straight and may be the boy to lead the New Yorkers to another pennant at a time when the Indians need pitching help.

Workhorse of the Yank staff last year when he participated in 34 games, hurled 242 innings and won 19 games against eight losses, Reynolds turned in his best year in the majors. He had the benefit, however, of some timely Yankee hitting.

This is Reynolds' seventh season in the majors. As a member of the Indians in 1943 he led the league in strikeouts, getting 151 batters to bite the dust.

Of Irish-Indian-English descent, Reynolds broke into professional baseball with Springfield of the Middle-Atlantic league in 1939 and moved up through the Cleveland farms at Cedar Rapids and Wilkes-Barre, being brought up to the parent club in 1942 after he had won 18 games for Wilkes-Barre.

Reynolds was regular starting pitcher for the Tribe in 1943-44-45-46, turning in his best effort with the Indians in 1945 when he won 18 games.

The husky righthander received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1940, a year after he had started his baseball career.

Reynolds is 29 and makes his home in Oklahoma City.

Starkey And Kozarek Head Amvets' Fight Card

Niland Meets Klosterman In Show Tonight

Five Portage Boxers Appear On Program

Amateur boxers of the Portage (Pa.) Athletic Club will oppose local boys in five of the eight matches in the Amvets' A.C. show tonight at the State Armory—the 21st fistic program of the season in Cumberland this season.

The card will be headed by a five-rounder between Lou Kozarek, the rough, hard-hitting middleweight from Pennsylvania and Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local 150-pounder, who will be engaging in his 28th amateur match.

Kozarek Stopped Howard

Kozarek will be making his second appearance here. On March 22 he stopped Robert "Red" Howard of Washington, D. C., in the fifth and final round of their bout in St. Mary's A.C. show. On January 19, Starkey decisioned Howard in a five-round match in a Police Boys' Club show here.

Last July at Ebensburg, Kozarek decisioned "Red" Albright, local pro, in a three-round match at Ebensburg, Pa.

Kozarek will be Starkey's 19th out-of-town opponent. "Skeets" has won 20 of 27 fights to date. He's won six out of eight this year.

Local middleweights will hold the spotlight in tonight's secondary feature. This match will bring together Joe Niland, winner of nine out of 12 matches, and Jack Klosterman, who has emerged the victor in 14 out of 20 contests.

Bill Mann, Diamond A.C. 149-pounder, is paired with Terrie Cherrie of Portage in another three-rounder. Cherrie defeated Melvin Washington at Johnstown, Pa., March 18 and decisioned Mattease Echaves of Washington, D. C., here March 22. Mann has won nine out of his last ten fights and his record to date is 11 wins and five defeats.

The Preliminaries

The preliminaries include:

Roy Withers, Portage, Pa., vs. Jim Folk, Diamond A.C., featherweights. Folk has won his last five bouts and his record is now five wins and one defeat.

Tommy Odenthal, Portage, Pa., vs. Earl Smith, Amvets A.C., flyweights. Smith has won nine and lost seven.

Donnie Booth, Eckhart A.C. vs. Ed McMillan, Lonaconing, flyweights.

Paul Diggs, Eckhart, vs. Jim Stewart, Cumberland, light-heavyweights.

Henry Stossel, Portage, Pa., vs. Dick Saylor, Amvets A.C., middleweights.

The show is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

James E. Kelley, Jr., will referee all bouts with Gilbert Becker and Howard "Red" Bush as the judges and John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, timer.

Zanesville Quits Pro Cage Circuit

League May Operate In Two Divisions

WHEELING, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Tentative plans for operation of the All-American Professional Basketball season were outlined at a meeting of league officials here today.

Definite action on expansion of the circuit were deferred until June 12-13 when another session will be held at Pittsburgh.

Joseph Donnelly, acting president, indicated that the league constitution will be revised to permit acceptance of teams which are located outside a 200-mile radius of Wheeling. He said that salary limits may also be increased.

The league also may operate in two divisions, Donnelly said. Last year these six teams were in the circuit: Wheeling, Cumberland, Md., Altoona, Pa., Youngstown, Zanesville, and Columbus, O. The Columbus franchise was transferred to Dayton near the end of the season.

Donnelly said Zanesville will not be in the league next year.

It was reported that franchise applications from Johnstown, Pa., Hershey, Pa., and Marion, Ind., are being considered. Other cities which may be represented include: Charleston, Huntington, and Parkersburg, W. Va., Ohio towns mentioned as possible franchise holders include: Coshocton, Newark, Canton, Massilon and East Liverpool.

Irish Ring Giant To Make U. S. Debut

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Jim Cully, a seven foot, two inch hunk of man from Ireland with ambitions to emulate the feats of another ring goliath, Primo Carnera, makes his U. S. boxing debut here Wednesday.

The 24-year-old 280-pounder will face Wally Baden, an obscure heavyweight from Scranton, Pa., in an eight-rounder at the Jamaica Arena. Baden stands six feet three.

Little is known about the Tipperary Tower outside of his gargantuan dimensions. The big boy with the lantern jaw is seven inches taller than Carnera and weighs five pounds more.

The Irish giant wears a size 17 shoe and needs a 22 shirt.

Whether he can fight too remains to be seen.

The Jamaica spectacle tops an otherwise light national fistic card.

The Cubs collected only six hits off Koslo. They bunched three of them in the decisive eighth, two being bunts on a turf made treacherous by drizzling rain throughout the game

THURSDAY GAME

Cumberland Legion at Moose (Stitcher Field—4:30)

Two extra inning battles marked play in the Interstate Baseball League yesterday as Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, squeezed out a 9-8 decision over the Centerville (Pa.) Reds in eleven frames at Community Park and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose chased two runs over the pan in the tenth to defeat the Ridgeley American Legion at Carpenter Field, Ridgeley, to the tune of 5-3.

Manager "Boots" Miller's Cumberland Eagles moved into undisputed possession of first place in the nine-club circuit by downing the Romney Rockets at Romney, W. Va., 9-3, while the Moorefield American Legion, 1947 champions, took the Hyndman V.F.W. into camp at Moorefield, W. Va., 3-1. Yesterday was an open date for Barrelville.

Charley Cumiskey's single with the bases loaded scored Jim Gaffney with the tally that gave Manager Art Garbark's club a victory over the Reds in the overtime battle here.

Norman Geatz Is Winner

Norman Geatz who relieved Jack Kauffman in the 9th after Centerville had knotted the score at 8-8 received credit for the victory and got himself out of a bad jam in the 11th by fanning Holobinko and G. Nee to retire the side after the visitors had filled the bases on Mickey's single, a hit batsman and base on balls after one out.

Eddie Diehl of the Legion belted a homer with two aboard in the 8th and knocked in four runs. David Rose of the Reds hit a four-bagger in the 8th with one on base and accounted for two of the losers' 13 hits. Jim Gaffney collected three hits in six trips to the plate. The locals completed two snappy double plays—Freeland to Diehl to Freeland and Diehl to Cecil to Freeland.

Grove Weakens In 10th

The Loyal Order of Moose scored twice in the tenth to defeat Ridgeley when Grove weakened. Three walks, a stolen base and two errors let in the two runs in the overtime stanza.

Esposito with a double and single and Martin with two singles led the winners at bat while P. Lindsay, Carr and Brehany rapped out two safeties each for Ridgeley. Zimmerman and Riggleman starred afield for Ridgeley, making several nice stops.

Hansrote Is Winner

Larry Hansrote kept seven hits well spaced and struck out eight as the Cumberland Eagles took the Rockets into camp at Romney.

Vern Penner with a homer, triple, and single and J. Miller with a double and two singles paced the Eagles' 10-hit assault. Shelley of the Birds homered in the second with two on the hassocks. Swick pitched the last 3⅔ innings for Romney, limited the Eagles to one run and struck out six. "Buck" Corbin was Romney's leading hitter with two safeties to his credit.

Moorefield Wins In 5th

Moorefield packed its scoring punch into the fifth inning and overcame a one-run lead to subdue the Hyndman Vets. Warden Hott doubled and scored the first Moorefield run on an error. Another run came over when a try for a double play failed and Dalton Coppe hammer home the final tally with a single. Hyndman registered in the 4th when See singled, went to third on Pick's single and stole home while Pick swiped second.

Pennant raising ceremonies marked the opening game at Moorefield and Senator R. J. Bean tossed out the first ball.

Bob Keller of Moorefield and Pick of Hyndman had two hits each, one of the latter's clouts being good for three sacks. The scores:

Wins Prize Of $2,000 Bobby Locke Is Second

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 9 (AP) — Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., felt the hot breath of a rival on his neck late today, but the 39-year-old veteran steadied and went on to win the Goodall Round Robin Golf Tournament with six points to spare.

After watching a seemingly safe lead melt away under a blistering assault by Bobby Locke of South Africa on the first nine of today's final round, Barron fought off his pursuer on the way home and salted away first prize of $2,000 with a final "plus" total of 38 points.

Barron grabbed the lead in the second round and never turned loose. He was behind only once, in the opening round, when Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago flitted around the Wykagyl Country Club course in a record-breaking 66. After that the New York professional was the boss.

Starting today's closing round he was far out in front with a plus of 39, with Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., second with 22, and Locke tied with Mangrum at plus 18. It looked like a safe advantage until Locke made his big push on the front nine.

Mangrum and Hamilton dropped from the contention as though they had been shot. Hamilton took 76 big strokes and finished in a tie with Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., for third place, each at plus 16. Mangrum sported himself to a large 79 and wound up at plus 9.

Cleveland Grabs Pair From Bosox And Regains Lead

Keltner Clouts Three Homers In Double Win

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians took over the American League lead today by twice defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4-1 in ten innings and 9-5, before 34,298 cash customers. Ken Keltner clouted three home runs for the winners, two in the opener, the second starting off the visitors' tenth inning three-run victory rally. Ted Williams walloped two for the Sox, one in each game.

The twin victories boosted the Indians into first place by eight percentage points over the surprising Philadelphia Athletics.

Larry Doby, Cleveland's negro outfielder, also poled a four bagger, a 400-foot drive into the bleachers in dead center field near where Keltner deposited his third round tripper.

Russ Christopher finished up both games for Cleveland, saving Bob Feller's third victory in the opener. Box:

Starkey And Kozarek Head Amvets' Fight Card

Niland Meets Klosterman In Show Tonight

Five Portage Boxers Appear On Program

Amateur boxers of the Portage (Pa.) Athletic Club will oppose local boys in five of the eight matches in the Amvets' A.C. show tonight at the State Armory—the 21st fistic program of the season in Cumberland this season.

The card will be headed by a five-rounder between Lou Kozarek, the rough, hard-hitting 'middleweight from Pennsylvania and Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local 150-pounder, who will be engaging in his 28th amateur match.

Kozarek Stopped Howard

Kozarek will be making his second appearance here. On March 22 he stopped Robert "Red" Howard of Washington, D. C., in the fifth and final round of their bout in St. Mary's A.C. show. On January 19, Starkey decisioned Howard in a five-round match in a Police Boys' Club show here.

Last July at Ebensburg, Kozarek decisioned "Red" Albright, local pro, in a three-round match at Ebensburg, Pa.

Kozarek will be Starkey's 19th out-of-town opponent. "Skeets" has won 20 of 27 fights to date. He's won six out of eight this year.

Local middleweights will hold the spotlight in tonight's secondary feature. This match will bring together Joe Niland, winner of nine out of 12 matches, and Jack Klosterman, who has emerged the victor in 14 out of 20 contests.

Bill Mann, Diamond A.C. 149-pounder, is paired with Terrie Cherrie of Portage in another three-rounder. Cherrie defeated Melvin Washington at Johnstown, Pa., March 18 and decisioned Mattease Echaves of Washington, D. C., here March 22. Mann has won nine out of his last ten fights and his record to date is 11 wins and five defeats.

The Preliminaries

The preliminaries include:

Roy Withers, Portage, Pa., vs. Jim Folk, Diamond A.C., featherweights. Folk has won his last five bouts and his record is now five wins and one defeat.

Tommy Odenthal, Portage, Pa., vs. Earl Smith, Amvets A.C., flyweights. Smith has won nine and lost seven.

Donnie Booth, Eckhart A.C. vs. Ed McMillan, Lonaconing, flyweights.

Paul Diggs, Eckhart, vs. Jim Stewart, Cumberland, light-heavyweights.

Henry Stossel, Portage, Pa., vs. Dick Saylor, Amvets A.C., middleweights.

The show is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

James E. Kelley, Jr., will referee all bouts with Gilbert Becker and Howard "Red" Bush as the judges and John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, timer.

Zanesville Quits Pro Cage Circuit

League May Operate In Two Divisions

WHEELING, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Tentative plans for operation of the All-American Professional Basketball season were outlined at a meeting of league officials here today.

Definite action on expansion of the circuit were deferred until June 12-13 when another session will be held at Pittsburgh.

Joseph Donnelly, acting president, indicated that the league constitution will be revised to permit acceptance of teams which are located outside a 200-mile radius of Wheeling. He said that salary limits may also be increased.

The league also may operate in two divisions, Donnelly said. Last year these six teams were in the circuit: Wheeling, Cumberland, Md., Altoona, Pa., Youngstown, Zanesville, and Columbus, O. The Columbus franchise was transferred to Dayton near the end of the season.

Donnelly said Zanesville will not be in the league next year.

It was reported that franchise applications from Johnstown, Pa., Hershey, Pa., and Marion, Ind., are being considered. Other cities which may be represented include: Charleston, Huntington, and Parkersburg, W. Va., Ohio towns mentioned as possible franchise holders include: Coshocton, Newark, Canton, Massilon and East Liverpool.

Irish Ring Giant To Make U. S. Debut

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Jim Cully, a seven foot, two inch hunk of man from Ireland with ambitions to emulate the feats of another ring goliath, Primo Carnera, makes his U. S. boxing debut here Wednesday.

The 24-year-old 280-pounder will face Wally Baden, an obscure heavyweight from Scranton, Pa., in an eight-rounder at the Jamaica Arena. Baden stands six feet three.

Little is known about the Tipperary Tower outside of his gargantuan dimensions. The big boy with the lantern jaw is seven inches taller than Carnera and weighs five pounds more.

The Irish giant wears a size 17 shoe and needs a 22 shirt.

Whether he can fight too remains to be seen.

The Jamaica spectacle tops an otherwise light national fistic card.

With two out Stan Musial singled, George Kurowski doubled and Enos Slaughter singled for a total of four runs.

CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS

CHICAGO, May 9—(AP)—A wild throw by Buddy Kerr allowed two runs to score in the eighth inning to give the Cubs a 2-0 victory over the Giants here today. Russ Meyer held the Giants to three hits to defeat Dave Koslo in an airtight pitching duel.

The Cubs collected only six hits off Koslo. They bunched three of them in the decisive eighth, two being bunts on a turf made treacherous by drizzling rain throughout the game

The victory was Meyer's second of the season and it was Koslo's first reverse following two victories.

THURSDAY GAME

Cumberland Legion at Moose (Stitcher Field—4:30)

Two extra inning battles marked play in the Interstate Baseball League yesterday as Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, squeezed out a 9-8 decision over the Centerville (Pa.) Reds in eleven frames at Community Park and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose chased two runs over the pan in the tenth to defeat the Ridgeley American Legion at Carpenter Field, Ridgeley, to the tune of 5-3.

Manager "Boots" Miller's Cumberland Eagles moved into undisputed possession of first place in the nine-club circuit by downing the Romney Rockets at Romney, W. Va., 9-3, while the Moorefield American Legion, 1947 champions, took the Hyndman V.F.W. into camp at Moorefield, W. Va., 3-1. Yesterday was an open date for Barrelville.

Charley Cumiskey's single with the bases loaded scored Jim Gaffney with the tally that gave Manager Art Garbark's club a victory over the Reds in the overtime battle here.

Norman Geatz Is Winner

Norman Geatz who relieved Jack Kauffman in the 9th after Centerville had knotted the score at 8-8 received credit for the victory and got himself out of a bad jam in the 11th by fanning Holobinko and G. Nee to retire the side after the visitors had filled the bases on Mickey's single, a hit batsman and base on balls after one out.

Eddie Diehl of the Legion belted a homer with two aboard in the 8th and knocked in four runs. David Rose of the Reds hit a four-bagger in the 8th with one on base and accounted for two of the losers' 13 hits. Jim Gaffney collected three hits in six trips to the plate. The locals completed two snappy double plays—Freeland to Diehl to Freeland and Diehl to Cecil to Freeland.

Grove Weakens In 10th

The Loyal Order of Moose scored twice in the tenth to defeat Ridgeley when Grove weakened. Three walks, a stolen base and two errors let in the two runs in the overtime stanza.

Esposito with a double and single and Martin with two singles led the winners at bat while P. Lindsay, Carr and Brehany rapped out two safeties each for Ridgeley. Zimmerman and Riggleman starred afield for Ridgeley, making several nice stops.

Hansrote Is Winner

Larry Hansrote kept seven hits well spaced and struck out eight as the Cumberland Eagles took the Rockets into camp at Romney.

Vern Penner with a homer, triple, and single and J. Miller with a double and two singles paced the Eagles' 10-hit assault. Shelley of the Birds homered in the second with two on the hassocks. Swick pitched the last 3⅔ innings for Romney, limited the Eagles to one run and struck out six. "Buck" Corbin was Romney's leading hitter with two safeties to his credit.

Moorefield Wins In 5th

Moorefield packed its scoring punch into the fifth inning and overcame a one-run lead to subdue the Hyndman Vets. Warden Hott doubled and scored the first Moorefield run on an error. Another run came over when a try for a double play failed and Dalton Coppe hammer home the final tally with a single. Hyndman registered in the 4th when See singled, went to third on Pick's single and stole home while Pick swiped second.

Pennant raising ceremonies marked the opening game at Moorefield and Senator R. J. Bean tossed out the first ball.

Bob Keller of Moorefield and Pick of Hyndman had two hits each, one of the latter's clouts being good for three sacks. The scores:

Romney High holds twin victories over Keyser and a single over Franklin.

Barron Is Winner In Goodall Round Robin Tournament

Wins Prize Of $2,000 Bobby Locke Is Second

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 9 (AP) — Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., felt the hot breath of a rival on his neck late today, but the 39-year-old veteran steadied and went on to win the Goodall Round Robin Golf Tournament with six points to spare.

After watching a seemingly safe lead melt away under a blistering assault by Bobby Locke of South Africa on the first nine of today's final round, Barron fought off his pursuer on the way home and salted away first prize of $2,000 with a final "plus" total of 38 points.

Barron grabbed the lead in the second round and never turned loose. He was behind only once, in the opening round, when Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago flitted around the Wykagyl Country Club course in a record-breaking 66. After that the New York professional was the boss.

Starting today's closing round he was far out in front with a plus of 39, with Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., second with 22, and Locke tied with Mangrum at plus 18. It looked like a safe advantage until Locke made his big push on the front nine.

Mangrum and Hamilton dropped from the contention as though they had been shot. Hamilton took 76 big strokes and finished in a tie with Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., for third place, each at plus 16. Mangrum sported himself to a large 79 and wound up at plus 9.

FORT HILL BANQUET COMMITTEE TO MEET

The committee making arrangements for the All-Sports Banquet at Fort Hill High School on Thursday night will complete plans at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the school. William "Bee" Orndorff is chairman of the committee.

Charles "Rip" Engle, formerly of Salisbury, Pa., and now football coach at Brown University, Providence, R. I., will be the guest speaker at the banquet.

Legion Boys To Drill

FROSTBURG, May 9—The junior baseball team of Farrady Post, American Legion, will hold a practice session Monday at 5:30 p. m. at State Teachers' College Field.

Cleveland Grabs Pair From Bosox And Regains Lead

Keltner Clouts Three Homers In Double Win

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians took over the American League lead today by twice defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4-1 in ten innings and 9-5, before 34,298 cash customers. Ken Keltner clouted three home runs for the winners, two in the opener, the second starting off the visitors' tenth inning three-run victory rally. Ted Williams walloped two for the Sox, one in each game.

The twin victories boosted the Indians into first place by eight percentage points over the surprising Philadelphia Athletics.

Larry Doby, Cleveland's negro outfielder, also poled a four bagger, a 400-foot drive into the bleachers in dead center field near where Keltner deposited his third round tripper.

Russ Christopher finished up both games for Cleveland, saving Bob Feller's third victory in the opener. Box:

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 9—(INS)—Samuel Goldwyn has made an offer to Robert Sherwood for the film rights to the biography of Harry Hopkins, and the deal is hot at this moment. Bob, who brought the completed biography of Hopkins back with him from England a few days ago, is calling his book, "Roosevelt and Hopkins; an intimate history."

Lorella Parsons

Sherwood had access to all the papers and all the letters of Hopkins, and since he wrote some of Roosevelt's speeches, he had information that was not available to anyone else.

Naturally, Sherwood, who wrote the screenplay for "Best Years Of Our Lives," favors Goldwyn's offer above all others.

There's been so much talk the last few years about Jack Warner making a movie of Jack Benny's life, that I was amused the other day to hear that Mike Curtiz is going to direct it.

Benny will insist first that he must play himself. When he is turned down, he'll say Benny must be played by either Errol Flynn or Cary Grant. He believes one of them will play the part—but actually, it's Humphrey Bogart who is the gent from Waukegan.

If Bogey does it, it will certainly be a new departure for him.

To hear Ilka Chase tell it, there isn't a word of truth in the rumor that her husband, Dr. Norton Brown, wasn't too pleased about her cozy story of their romance, in her book, "Free Admission." Ilka, who has been in Hollywood making a picture, left Thursday to join her husband, who. she said, was waiting for her.

In "Free Admission" Ilka talks about the doctor as she talked about Bill Murray, to whom she was married when she wrote "Past Imperfect," her first book. In fact, the only husband she pans is Louis Calhern, her first. He's the only one who didn't rate a story about their beautiful life together.

Chatter in Hollywood: If Estelle Taylor pulls a sudden elopement with Sergeant Jim Ellis of the Hollywood homicide squad — don't say I didn't tell you.

Not in years has Estelle been so much in love and she doesn't care who knows it. The detective gent who has won her heart is from Houston, Texas, and while he is tall and good looking, he isn't a Texas millionaire—which is a relief.

Professionally, Estelle is readying a television show. She'll narrate and appear in a fashion show with Hollywood starlets modeling the clothes.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bill Burch, who dreamed up "Miss Hush" and "The Walking Man," becomes a father for the second time in November.

The Matty Malnecks have separated again, I'm sorry to say. They reconciled, and then parted again. He's the bandleader.

Nice bonus Jennifer Jones received for being a Selznick star—a beautiful home in Bel Air.

Victor Mature has joined the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Laguna. Next thing we know he'll be running for mayor.

Bob Topping has bought property in Bel Air, near the Bel Air hotel, where he will build when he and Lana Turner return from their honeymoon.

Audrey Young, who has been beau-d around by most of the interesting bachelors of Hollywood, opens a singing stint at the Mocambo on Wednesday.

Gregory Peck won't start "Yellow Sky" until June 1, because of his leg. When he does, he can limp, because in the picture the hero gets shot in the leg instead of the arm. Once again, necessity is the mother of invention.

Arthur Unger is back from Miami where he attended the convention of the Variety Clubs, and from New York, where he went on business.

Barbara Ann Richmond, the girl Jack Warner, Jr., is marrying May 30 is a school teacher. She's described as a charming girl.

That's all today.

Burns Prove Fatal To Skelley Child

Patricia May Skelley, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip D. Skelley, Sr., Potomac Park, died in Allegany Hospital Friday night of burns received when she fell into a pan of boiling clothes starch at her home Wednesday morning.

The child fell into the pan of starch, which had been left on the floor in a hallway, while in the care of a brother, who was trying to catch her when the accident occurred.

Besides her parents she leaves a brother, Phillip D. Skelley, Jr., and a sister, Margaret Wilda Skelley, both at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Jones, Cumberland, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skelley, Sr., Cresaptown.

The child's body has been taken to the home of Merle Hivick, Cresap Park, a brother-in-law of the father.

Graveside rites will be held at 10:30 a. m. today in St. Ambrose Cemetery, Cresaptown. Rev. Father Cletus, O.F.M. Cap., will officiate.

Potomac Edison Names McVay Plant Official

Cecil G. McVay, who formerly worked at the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company here, has been named superintendent of the new $10,000,000 steam-electric generating plant at Williamsport.

An employe of PE since 1937, Mc Vay served in the Army Engineers during World War II and helped build the Alcan Highway to Alaska.

Sherwood had access to all the papers and all the letters of Hopkins, and since he wrote some of Roosevelt's speeches, he had information that was not available to anyone else.

Naturally, Sherwood, who wrote the screenplay for "Best Years Of Our Lives," favors Goldwyn's offer above all others.

There's been so much talk the last few years about Jack Warner making a movie of Jack Benny's life, that I was amused the other day to hear that Mike Curtiz is going to direct it.

Benny will insist first that he must play himself. When he is turned down, he'll say Benny must be played by either Errol Flynn or Cary Grant. He believes one of them will play the part—but actually, it's Humphrey Bogart who is the gent from Waukegan.

If Bogey does it, it will certainly be a new departure for him.

To hear Ilka Chase tell it, there isn't a word of truth in the rumor that her husband, Dr. Norton Brown, wasn't too pleased about her cozy story of their romance, in her book, "Free Admission." Ilka, who has been in Hollywood making a picture, left Thursday to join her husband, who, she said, was waiting for her.

In "Free Admission" Ilka talks about the doctor as she talked about Bill Murray, to whom she was married when she wrote "Past Imperfect," her first book. In fact, the only husband she pans is Louis Calhern, her first. He's the only one who didn't rate a story about their beautiful life together.

Chatter in Hollywood: If Estelle Taylor pulls a sudden elopement with Sergeant Jim Ellis of the Hollywood homicide squad — don't say I didn't tell you.

Not in years has Estelle been so much in love and she doesn't care who knows it. The detective gent who has won her heart is from Houston, Texas, and while he is tall and good looking, he isn't a Texas millionaire—which is a relief.

Professionally, Estelle is readying a television show. She'll narrate and appear in a fashion show with Hollywood starlets modeling the clothes.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bill Burch, who dreamed up "Miss Hush" and "The Walking Man," becomes a father for the second time in November.

The Matty Malnecks have separated again, I'm sorry to say. They reconciled, and then parted again. He's the bandleader.

Nice bonus Jennifer Jones received for being a Selznick star—a beautiful home in Bel Air.

Victor Mature has joined the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Laguna. Next thing we know he'll be running for mayor.

Bob Topping has bought property in Bel Air, near the Bel Air hotel, where he will build when he and Lana Turner return from their honeymoon.

Audrey Young, who has been beau-d around by most of the interesting bachelors of Hollywood, opens a singing stint at the Mocambo on Wednesday.

Gregory Peck won't start "Yellow Sky" until June 1, because of his leg. When he does, he can limp, because in the picture the hero gets shot in the leg instead of the arm. Once again, necessity is the mother of invention.

Arthur Unger is back from Miami where he attended the convention of the Variety Clubs, and from New York, where he went on business.

Barbara Ann Richmond, the girl Jack Warner, Jr., is marrying May 30 is a school teacher. She's described as a charming girl.

That's all today.

Burns Prove Fatal To Skelley Child

Patricia May Skelley, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip D. Skelley, Sr., Potomac Park, died in Allegany Hospital Friday night of burns received when she fell into a pan of boiling clothes starch at her home Wednesday morning.

The child fell into the pan of starch, which had been left on the floor in a hallway, while in the care of a brother, who was trying to catch her when the accident occurred.

Besides her parents she leaves a brother, Phillip D. Skelley, Jr., and a sister, Margaret Wilda Skelley, both at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Jones, Cumberland, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skelley, Sr., Cresaptown.

The child's body has been taken to the home of Merle Hivick, Cresap Park, a brother-in-law of the father.

Graveside rites will be held at 10:30 a. m. today in St. Ambrose Cemetery, Cresaptown. Rev. Father Cletus, O.F.M. Cap., will officiate.

Potomac Edison Names McVay Plant Official

Cecil G. McVay, who formerly worked at the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company here, has been named superintendent of the new $10,000,000 steam-electric generating plant at Williamsport.

An employe of PE since 1937, Mc Vay served in the Army Engineers during World War II and helped build the Alcan Highway to Alaska.

"Village Doctor" To Be Cavalcade Of America Show

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 9.—Howard Barlow and his orchestra concert will originate from Memphis, Tenn., for NBC at 8:30 Monday night. The reason there for is the 1948 cotton carnival. Both Soprano Eleanor Steber and Tenor Christopher Lynch will be heard.

The drama division of Monday night networking will run in this order, or thereabouts:

NBC 8—Cavalcade of America, Melvyn Douglas portraying Dr. Archer Chester Sudan in the drama "Village Doctor."

CBS 9—Radio Theater, "Intrigue," with both George Raft and June Havoc acting in the same roles they had when this piece was put before the movie cameras.

CBS 10:30—Screen Guild players, "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer," as played by Cary Grant, Myrna Loy and Shirley Temple.

When the Don Voorhees concert displays itself over NBC at 9 it will have the first guest appearance of an operatic soprano. It is Licia Alvanese, who will do two arias and an American song as her part of the soloing.

A variety show on behalf of the United Negro college fund is to comprise another ABC special at 10:30. It is to include W. C. Handy, Baritone Kenneth Spencer, Organist Ethel Smith and the Deep River Boys quartet. Tiny Ruffner is to M.C. . . . Martha Stewart and the Starlighters are to be guests of Mark Warnow's ABC Soundoff at 8:30.

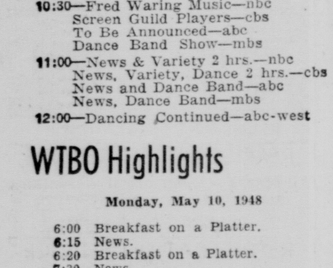
WIFE PRESERVERS



When you are cleaning about the house, it is wise to provide yourself with two pails or buckets, one for soapy water and the other for clear rinse water. Many unnecessary steps to the kitchen are avoided by this procedure.

PRIMER for PARENTS

WAIT UNTIL HE'S OLDER . . . Don't take your child to the movies until he is old enough to enjoy the picture, and not to annoy others near you.

Don't Bear It!

BELTON, Mont. (AP)—Bears aren't too fussy about caring where a chocolate bar ends and a human hand begins.

Visitors to Glacier National Park this summer will be given frequent reminders of this.

Warning signs, set in series of three, will read: "Highway bears are often rude." "They eat fingers as well as food" and "Play safe, don't feed bears."

Park Naturalist Don Robinson and Ranger George Hill designed the signs.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Now isn't that more comfy, Mr. Short?"

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

"No, he's not a wolf like the one in 'Little Red Riding Hood'!"

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"I am amazed at the news that I was burned in effigy in Maryland —Why, that's not my state!"

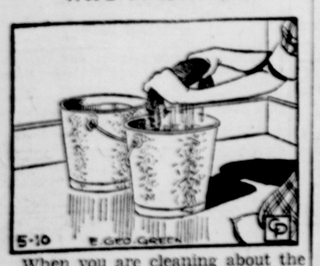
WIFE PRESERVERS



When you are cleaning about the house, it is wise to provide yourself with two pails or buckets, one for soapy water and the other for clear rinse water. Many unnecessary steps to the kitchen are avoided by this procedure.

PRIMER for PARENTS

WAIT UNTIL HE'S OLDER . . . Don't take your child to the movies until he is old enough to enjoy the picture, and not to annoy others near you.

Don't Bear It!

BELTON, Mont. (AP)—Bears aren't too fussy about caring where a chocolate bar ends and a human hand begins.

Visitors to Glacier National Park this summer will be given frequent reminders of this.

Warning signs, set in series of three, will read: "Highway bears are often rude," "They eat fingers as well as food" and "Play safe, don't feed bears."

Park Naturalist Don Robinson and Ranger George Hill designed the signs.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Now isn't that more comfy, Mr. Short?"

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

"No, he's not a wolf like the one in 'Little Red Riding Hood'!"

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"I am amazed at the news that I was burned in effigy in Maryland —Why, that's not my state!"

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mary Smith, who died one year ago today, May 10, 1947.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mary Smith, who died one year ago today, May 10, 1947.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.

Night Sessions

Johnston, who acts as spokesman of the three unions involved, said that the parties had been talking separately with Steelman all day on the whole situation, without agreement of any kind.

The agreed strike hour is 6 a. m. Tuesday, local Standard Time. Union officials here said Standard Time was chosen because the carriers generally operate without reference to Daylight Saving Time.

Negotiators in Washington said they did not know anything about a plan on the Long Island Railroad, serving New York City, to go out an hour earlier. The Long Island operates on Daylight Time.

At one interval in the afternoon, the union leaders said in a statement "we will place the full facts before the public" if it "becomes necessary to remove these discussions from the conference.

CHICAGO, May 9—(INS) — Jeff Cravath of Southern California and Bob Higgins of Penn State were named today to assist Notre Dame's Frank Leahy in coaching the College All-Stars for their Aug. 20 game against the Chicago Cardinals, champs of the National Football League.

It will be the first coaching assignment for Higgins in the 15-year history of the All-Star spectacle, the third for Cravath.

Ex-MP Kills Bride After She Declined To Slay Him

CARNEGIE, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Detectives said a 23-year-old ex-military policeman today admitted shooting to death his bride of three months after she declined his offer to let her kill him.

Mrs. Alice C. Kish, 19, was shot above the right eye as she lay on a bed in a room the couple occupied in a home here.

Russell Patton, assistant chief Allegheny County detective, said her husband, Thomas, would be turned over to the coroner.

Patton said Kish signed a statement giving this version of the shooting:

He was to have met his wife last night on a street corner but failed to keep the appointment. When he returned home at midnight, he found her awaiting him. She ignored his offer of some sandwiches and said:

"I get so mad at you, I could kill you."

He replied, "Well then, why don't you?", and offered her his .32 caliber pistol.

When she refused to touch the weapon, he said:

"Now, it's my turn," and fired a bullet into her head.

PETERSVILLE Md., May 9 (AP)—One woman was killed and four other persons were injured today in a four-way motorcycle pileup two miles south of here.

Police said the Grimes were travelling in a group of nine motorcyclists on their way to Winchester, Va.

The cyclists were going in single file when the rear tire of the third machine blew out. Three other motorcycles plowed into it, police said.

West Virginia's Voters Go To Polls Tomorrow

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Except for the weather forecasts and the last-minute claims and counter-claims of the many candidates, the issue of whose names go on the November ballot was ready tonight for a decision of West Virginia's voters.

Fair weather, said some election observers, would bring out from 50 to 55 per cent of the state's million-odd voters Tuesday to participate in the nomination of candidates from United States Senate all the way down the list to district constable.

The major aspirants got in their final campaign licks last night in speeches and statements.

Most of them were back on home grounds today, drafting election-eve statements and waiting to cast their own ballots in the Tuesday primary. The polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. (EST).

Two Geographic Society Expeditions Film Eclipse

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The sun's eclipse was hidden yesterday from five of seven parties of scientists who fanned out in a 5,320-mile arc in the Pacific—but the other two had good luck.

The National Geographic Society, which sent the expeditions from Burma to the Aleutians to photograph the phenomenon, awaited results of a separate effort made from two specially equipped B-29 planes which were to fly above the weather.

The society said the eclipse was caught under nearly ideal conditions on Rebun Jima, a little island off Northwest Japan. The other successful party was at Bangkok, Siam.

He said he will ask the conference to adopt a resolution memorializing Congress to call in MacArthur as an advisor on international affairs and on the need for military preparedness.

Night Sessions

Johnston, who acts as spokesman of the three unions involved, said that the parties had been talking separately with Steelman all day on the whole situation, without agreement of any kind.

The agreed strike hour is 6 a. m. Tuesday, local Standard Time. Union officials here said Standard Time was chosen because the carriers generally operate without reference to Daylight Saving Time.

Negotiators in Washington said they did not know anything about a plan on the Long Island Railroad, serving New York City, to go out an hour earlier. The Long Island operates on Daylight Time.

At one interval in the afternoon, the union leaders said in a statement "we will place the full facts before the public" if it "becomes necessary to remove these discussions from the conference.

CHICAGO, May 9—(INS)—Jeff Cravath of Southern California and Bob Higgins of Penn State were named today to assist Notre Dame's Frank Leahy in coaching the College All-Stars for their Aug. 20 game against the Chicago Cardinals, champs of the National Football League.

Ex-MP Kills Bride After She Declined To Slay Him

CARNEGIE, Pa., May 9 (AP)—Detectives said a 23-year-old ex-military policeman today admitted shooting to death his bride of three months after she declined his offer to let her kill him.

Mrs. Alice C. Kish, 19, was shot above the right eye as she lay on a bed in a room the couple occupied in a home here.

Russell Patton, assistant chief Allegheny County detective, said her husband, Thomas, would be turned over to the coroner.

Patton said Kish signed a statement giving this version of the shooting:

He was to have met his wife last night on a street corner but failed to keep the appointment. When he returned home at midnight, he found her awaiting him. She ignored his offer of some sandwiches and said:

"I get so mad at you, I could kill you."

He replied, "Well then, why don't you?", and offered her his .32 caliber pistol.

When she refused to touch the weapon, he said:

"Now, it's my turn," and fired a bullet into her head.

Police said the Grimes were travelling in a group of nine motorcyclists on their way to Winchester, Va.

The cyclists were going in single file when the rear tire of the third machine blew out. Three other motorcycles plowed into it, police said.

West Virginia's Voters Go To Polls Tomorrow

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 9 (AP)—Except for the weather forecasts and the last-minute claims and counter-claims of the many candidates, the issue of whose names go on the November ballot was ready tonight for a decision of West Virginia's voters.

Fair weather, said some election observers, would bring out from 50 to 55 per cent of the state's million-odd voters Tuesday to participate in the nomination of candidates from United States Senate all the way down the list to district constable.

The major aspirants got in their final campaign licks last night in speeches and statements.

Most of them were back on home grounds today, drafting election-eve statements and waiting to cast their own ballots in the Tuesday primary. The polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. (EST).

Two Geographic Society Expeditions Film Eclipse

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The sun's eclipse was hidden yesterday from five of seven parties of scientists who fanned out in a 5,320-mile arc in the Pacific—but the other two had good luck.

The National Geographic Society, which sent the expeditions from Burma to the Aleutians to photograph the phenomenon, awaited results of a separate effort made from two specially equipped B-29 planes which were to fly above the weather.

The society said the eclipse was caught under nearly ideal conditions on Rebun Jima, a little island off Northwest Japan. The other successful party was at Bangkok, Siam.

He said he will ask the conference to adopt a resolution memorializing Congress to call in MacArthur as an advisor on international affairs and on the need for military preparedness.

160 Are Confirmed In Catholic Rites At St. Patrick's

Archbishop Keough Confers Sacrament

Welcomed by Western Maryland's Catholic clergy yesterday afternoon, Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, last night made his first official appearance here when he bestowed the Sacrament of Confirmation on 160 persons at St. Patrick's Church.

Attired in his ecclesiastical robes, the Archbishop followed a procession of the confirmation candidates into the church through an archway of swords formed by members of the city's Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Cardinal Gibbons Court, C. D. of A., formed a guard of honor.

The ceremony which marked the first time the sacrament has been bestowed here in two years opened a five-day tour of Allegany and Garrett Counties when the recently appointed Archbishop will confer the sacrament on parishoners in nine Catholic churches.

Shortly after his arrival here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Archbishop Keough was guest of honor at a dinner reception in St. Patrick's Church rectory where the Catholic clergy of the area were presented.

The church last night was filled as the 120 children, dressed in the traditional white, followed by 40 adults, entered the church to receive one of the major sacraments, which, according to Catholic teachings, makes the person a soldier of God.

The procession, led by the altar boys of the parish, began at the nearby school house and was joined by the Archbishop and visiting clergy as it passed the rectory.

With a background of liturgical music, Archbishop Keough took his place on the scarlet bedecked throne and applied the sacramental oils to the foreheads of each candidate and then tapped the right cheek lightly to remind the receiver that he must be courageous in embracing the faith.

The ceremony ended with solemn benediction on the church altar celebrated by Archbishop Keough, assisted by the clergy of the area and the altar boys of the parish.

Today the Archbishop will confer the sacrament at St. Joseph's Church, Midland, at 4 p. m. and at SS. Peter and Paul Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock; on Tuesday at St. Mary's, Lonaconing, and St. Peter's, Westernport; Wednesday at St. Peter's, Oakland, and St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, and Thursday at St. Mary's, this city.

Eagles Observe Mother's Day In Ceremony Here

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, initiated a class of 65 candidates in observance of Mother's Day at 2 p. m. yesterday. C. W. H. Baer, worthy president, was in charge of initiatory work, assisted by officers of the lodge.

Attorney Estel C. Kelley, honorary past state president, addressed the group on the significance of Mother's Day, stressing the part the Eagles lodges have played in making it a day of national observance.

Kelley said the first public plea for observance of the day was made at a convention of Eagles lodges at South Bend, Ind., in 1904, by the late Frank E. Hering, a professor at the University of Notre Dame and a past grand worthy president.

The speaker traced the observance of the day from its beginning to the present time, and compared the problems which confronted the pioneer mothers in Western Maryland with the life of a mother of today.

Herman L. Myers, secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Organization Board, instructed the newly-installed members.

After the installation, a shrimp dinner was given by the board of trustees and the entertainment committee for the 700 members who attended.

Panhandle Health Plan Appears Closer

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 9 —(AP)—A co-operative health plan for the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia appeared closer today after approval of the project by the second of three county courts involved.

Berkeley County Court has joined the Morgan County Court in agreeing to the tri-county plan which has been under consideration for the past several years.

One of the chief backers of the project, Dr. G. P. Morison, Morgan County health officer, said he still is hopeful that Jefferson County would join in. He indicated, however, that the project would be effected either as a two or three county program.

The plan envisions an Eastern Panhandle health unit with headquarters here under the supervision of a full-time trained physician.

The Weather

Gosh, wasn't it nice yesterday! With more weather like that any young man's fancy will surely turn to thoughts of love. It was nice, anyway, and the mercury climbed clear to 86 degrees, tying the high for the year, according to the weather observer. Crowds treked to the Park in bunches yesterday to get their first real glimpse of Cumberland this spring. At 11 o'clock last night, the temperature was 64 degrees, making it comfortable for sleeping. At 8 o'clock Sunday morning, the thermometer read 45 degrees, with a 40 degree low registered. No frost was reported in this area. For today, it looks like it will be partly cloudy, windy and quite warm, but some scattered showers.

Two Local Men Held In Fight At Restaurant

Waitress, One Man Taken To Hospital

Two men were being held in city jail last night after one of the pair and a waitress at the Bolt and Forge Restaurant, Williams Street, were treated in Memorial Hospital at 2:10 a. m. and then released in the custody of City Police.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said he was informed the two men who were docketed as Bernard Tucker, Queen City Hotel, and George Stewart, 210 Fifth Street, allegedly engaged in a dispute in the restaurant which is reported to have ended in a gun being fired.

At the hospital attaches said Tucker was treated for a head laceration and the woman, identified as Rose Arbogast, 52, 214 Central Avenue, was examined and discharged.

According to the police docket, Tucker was arrested at 1:37 yesterday and Stewart was apprehended at 11:40 a. m. Chief Flynn said an investigating officer told him Stewart hit Tucker in the head with a cup.

Later, Flynn said he was told, Tucker allegedly got a gun and fired at Stewart but missed. Officers who took Tucker and the waitress to the hospital said the woman talked of hearing a gun shot.

Rose Arbogast told authorities, they said, that she refused to serve Stewart when he entered the place because he had started trouble on previous occasions. It was then, police quoted the woman, that Stewart hit Tucker in the head with the cup.

Officers who investigated the case at the time said they did not find a gun but added Stewart fled before police arrived.

Tucker, police said, has denied he did any shooting.

Eckhart Mines Resident Asks Name Withdrawn

Only one Allegany County resident this morning asks that his name be withdrawn from the Wallace for President petition.

With an original 232 names on the petition, the persons asking their names be withdrawn would have cut the total to less than 200, but the Secretary of State says that an old state law provides that the names, when signed, must remain there.

Today's only letter follows:

CLARENCE H. MICHAELS, Eckhart Mines: "I ran across my name in the Daily News and Evening Times under the Wallace for President petition and I would appreciate it very much if you would please withdraw my name from both papers."

EDITOR'S NOTE—The author of the following letter, printed in yesterday's Sunday Times, criticizes The Cumberland News, saying publication of a similar letter was withheld by this newspaper. The News as yet has received no such letter but would gladly have printed it over the author's signature. The News did receive one critical letter but declined to print it because the writer did not back up his satements with his signature. Giving the writer to the Times the benefit of the doub, the News prins his letter as taken from the Sunday Times herewith:

"Editor Sunday Times:

"I signed the petition of Peace and Prosperity to put Henry Wallace and Senator Glenn Taylor on the Maryland state ballot.

"I considered it not only a privilege but a duty to sign this petition and I will not be intimidated by sly insinuations as to the character of these candidates and those who signed the petitions.

"I sent a letter to the News Tuesday morning on the subject of this yellow journalism and it has not been printed up to now (Friday). Call it censorship or anything you want but I believe the omission of my letter is deliberate.

"A newspaper which seldom, if ever, speaks a good word for a Democrat or a labor union, can hardly be expected to speak well for a real Progressive candidate. I can only hope the people see through this yellow journalism.

"From a position of barely mentioning Wallace and Taylor, except in a bad light, it seems funny the News would devote so much space to the signers of the Wallace petition unless they hoped to discredit the march of people toward Wallace and peace. x x x

"Trusting you will print this in The Sunday Times, I remain,

"CLAIR R. MEASE,
"23 Mary Street."

Native Holland Resident Visiting Son Here Thinks U. S. "Marvelous"

It was a happy Mother's Day at 40 Grant Street, Cresaptown, Sunday, as Mrs. Trijntje Vandenberg, a native of Groninden, Holland, visited her son and family.

Mrs. Vandenberg has been in the United States for a little over two weeks and is excited about the greatness of the country. According to her son, Dirk, she didn't think Holland was so "small." Although she hasn't been visiting too much, Mrs. Vandenberg thinks the United States is "marvelous" and especially likes the mountains, somewhat of a treat for her since Holland is such a flat country.

Mrs. Vandenberg's son, Dirk, is presently employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and likes his work very much and he too enjoys the mountains and streams, even though he has been here for some time.

The visitor from Holland has three sons and one daughter, all residents of Holland. Her husband was hit in the leg with a German rifle bullet during the last war and died later in a hospital.

The Cresaptown son married the former Miss Mary Pagenhardt, Westernport, on January 25 after he had met her aboard a Dutch Merchant ship when he was serving as the ship engineer. Mrs. Vandenberg was an Army nurse at the time and they struck up a romance, which finally ended in marriage. To add to the enjoyment of married life, a son, Jan Stephen, was born in a Cumberland hospital and at the present he is the "apple of his grandmother's eye."

The gray-haired elder Vandenberg mother has had a slight accident since coming here, as her head hit the windshield of a car in which she was riding. Everything is reported under control and nothing can stop her from having a good time until June 11, at which time she will bid farewell to the Cumberland area and depart for Holland.

It Costs Extra To Tear Up Tickets

Consequences: Umstott was taken to police headquarters and required to post $5 bond. Apparent cost of tearing up a ticket—$4.

Lt. Van said Sullivan then proceded to Hay Street with Harshberger in pursuit. As Sullivan approached the home of Helen G. Sathoff he lost control of his car, Lt. Van said.

The vehicle, police said, careened against the side of the house tearing a door from the hinges and breaking a corner off the house. Lt. Van said Sullivan began to run from the scene of the accident but was apprehended by two witnesses who held him until police arrived.

Sullivan posted $39.90 on the two charges and will be given a hearing this morning.

Governor Charles E. Pettie of Cumberland Lodge 270, Loyal Order of Moose, gave the welcoming address, and awards were presented to mothers in the area.

Rev. Keesecker emphasized the importance of the role of the mother in today's civilization, using as an example the Bible story of how Moses was saved and prepared for his life work through the faith and courage of his mother.

Rev. Keesecker added that much of the credit due the mother in a family goes to the father. He outlined the importance of the mother's examples to her children, adding that the character and qualities of the mother are reflected in the child.

TWUA Officials Say Executive Misquoted

A release from the main office of the Textile Workers Union of America, just received locally, says that the recent convention speech of George Baldanzi, executive vice president of the organization, was misquoted in the press.

According to news items from various newspapers and wire services, Baldanzi was quoted as exhorting the workers to violence in the CIO's Southern Organizing Campaign, the TWUA said. This was branded false by the TWUA, as Baldanzi spoke of violence against the union and not of the union as was reported in the country's press.

Trusted Trustie Trusted No More

A prisoner who is serving a 30-day jail sentence in Allegany County Jail on a charge of being drunk was arrested Saturday on a charge of being drunk, authorities said. They gave this explanation:

Calvin Miller, this city, began serving a 30-day jail sentence April 17 after being convicted on an habitual drunk charge. After a time in the county jail he was made a trustie. Then he became an "outside trustie."

Acting in the capacity of an "outside trustie" Miller was given money Saturday and sent to town to buy cigarets "and other things" that the inmates wanted.

It wasn't too much later that city police arrested Miller in Riverside Park — minus the money and the packages.

Miller did have something though. Police called it the effects of alcohol. He was taken to city jail and then returned to the county jail. Authorities said he was sober again last night, but the trusted position is his no longer.

160 Are Confirmed In Catholic Rites At St. Patrick's

Archbishop Keough Confers Sacrament

Welcomed by Western Maryland's Catholic clergy yesterday afternoon, Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, last night made his first official appearance here when he bestowed the Sacrament of Confirmation on 160 persons at St. Patrick's Church.

Attired in his ecclesiastical robes, the Archbishop followed a procession of the confirmation candidates into the church through an archway of swords formed by members of the city's Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Cardinal Gibbons Court, C. D. of A., formed a guard of honor.

The ceremony which marked the first time the sacrament has been bestowed here in two years opened a five-day tour of Allegany and Garrett Counties when the recently appointed Archbishop will confer the sacrament on parishoners in nine Catholic churches.

Shortly after his arrival here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Archbishop Keough was guest of honor at a dinner reception in St. Patrick's Church rectory where the Catholic clergy of the area were presented.

The church last night was filled as the 120 children, dressed in the traditional white, followed by 40 adults, entered the church to receive one of the major sacraments, which, according to Catholic teachings, makes the person a soldier of God.

The procession, led by the altar boys of the parish, began at the nearby school house and was joined by the Archbishop and visiting clergy as it passed the rectory.

With a background of liturgical music, Archbishop Keough took his place on the scarlet bedecked throne and applied the sacramental oils to the foreheads of each candidate and then tapped the right cheek lightly to remind the receiver that he must be courageous in embracing the faith.

The ceremony ended with solemn benediction on the church altar celebrated by Archbishop Keough, assisted by the clergy of the area and the altar boys of the parish.

Today the Archbishop will confer the sacrament at St. Joseph's Church, Midland, at 4 p. m. and at SS. Eagles Observe Mother's Day In Ceremony Here

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, initiated a class of 65 candidates in observance of Mother's Day at 2 p. m. yesterday. C. W. H. Baer, worthy president, was in charge of initiatory work, assisted by officers of the lodge.

Attorney Estel C. Kelley, honorary past state president, addressed the group on the significance of Mother's Day, stressing the part the Eagles lodges have played in making it a day of national observance.

Kelley said the first public plea for observance of the day was made at a convention of Eagles lodges at South Bend, Ind., in 1904, by the late Frank E. Hering, a professor at the University of Notre Dame and a past grand worthy president.

The speaker traced the observance of the day from its beginning to the present time, and compared the problems which confronted the pioneer mothers in Western Maryland with the life of a mother of today.

Herman L. Myers, secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Organization Board, instructed the newly-installed members.

After the installation, a shrimp dinner was given by the board of trustees and the entertainment committee for the 700 members who attended.

Panhandle Health Plan Appears Closer

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 9 —(AP)—A co-operative health plan for the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia appeared closer today after approval of the project by the second of three county courts involved.

Berkeley County Court has joined the Morgan County Court in agreeing to the tri-county plan which has been under consideration for the past several years.

One of the chief backers of the project, Dr. G. P. Morison, Morgan County health officer, said he still is hopeful that Jefferson County would join in. He indicated, however, that the project would be effected either as a two or three county program.

The plan envisions an Eastern Panhandle health unit with headquarters here under the supervision of a full-time trained physician.

The Weather

Gosh, wasn't it nice yesterday! With more weather like that any young man's fancy will surely turn to thoughts of love. It was nice, anyway, and the mercury climbed clear to 86 degrees, tying the high for the year, according to the weather observer. Crowds treked to the Park in bunches yesterday to get their first real glimpse of Cumberland this spring. At 11 o'clock last night, the temperature was 64 degrees, making it comfortable for sleeping. At 8 o'clock Sunday morning, the thermometer read 45 degrees, with a 40 degree low registered. No frost was reported in this area. For today, it looks like it will be partly cloudy, windy and quite warm, but some scattered showers.

Two Local Men Held In Fight At Restaurant

Waitress, One Man Taken To Hospital

Two men were being held in city jail last night after one of the pair and a waitress at the Bolt and Forge Restaurant, Williams Street, were treated in Memorial Hospital at 2:10 a. m. and then released in the custody of City Police.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said he was informed the two men who were docketed as Bernard Tucker, Queen City Hotel, and George Stewart, 210 Fifth Street, allegedly engaged in a dispute in the restaurant which is reported to have ended in a gun being fired.

At the hospital attaches said Tucker was treated for a head laceration and the woman, identified as Rose Arbogast, 52, 214 Central Avenue, was examined and discharged.

According to the police docket, Tucker was arrested at 1:37 yesterday and Stewart was apprehended at 11:40 a. m. Chief Flynn said an investigating officer told him Stewart hit Tucker in the head with a cup.

Later, Flynn said he was told, Tucker allegedly got a gun and fired at Stewart but missed. Officers who took Tucker and the waitress to the hospital said the woman talked of hearing a gun shot.

Rose Arbogast told authorities, they said, that she refused to serve Stewart when he entered the place because he had started trouble on previous occasions. It was then, police quoted the woman, that Stewart hit Tucker in the head with the cup.

Officers who investigated the case at the time said they did not find a gun but added Stewart fled before police arrived.

Tucker, police said, has denied he did any shooting.

Eckhart Mines Resident Asks Name Withdrawn

Only one Allegany County resident this morning asks that his name be withdrawn from the Wallace for President petition.

With an original 232 names on the petition, the persons asking their names be withdrawn would have cut the total to less than 200, but the Secretary of State says that an old state law provides that the names, when signed, must remain there.

Today's only letter follows:

CLARENCE H. MICHAELS, Eckhart Mines: "I ran across my name in the Daily News and Evening Times under the Wallace for President petition and I would appreciate it very much if you would please withdraw my name from both papers."

EDITOR'S NOTE—The author of the following letter, printed in yesterday's Sunday Times, criticizes The Cumberland News, saying publication of a similar letter was withheld by this newspaper. The News as yet has received no such letter but would gladly have printed it over the author's signature. The News did receive one critical letter but declined to print it because the writer did not back up his satements with his signature. Giving the writer to the Times the benefit of the doub, the News prins his letter as taken from the Sunday Times herewith:

"Editor Sunday Times:

"I signed the petition of Peace and Prosperity to put Henry Wallace and Senator Glenn Taylor on the Maryland state ballot.

"I considered it not only a privilege but a duty to sign this petition and I will not be intimidated by sly insinuations as to the character of these candidates and those who signed the petitions.

"I sent a letter to the News Tuesday morning on the subject of this yellow journalism and it has not been printed up to now (Friday). Call it censorship or anything you want but I believe the omission of my letter is deliberate.

"A newspaper which seldom, if ever, speaks a good word for a Democrat or a labor union, can hardly be expected to speak well for a real Progressive candidate. I can only hope the people see through this yellow journalism.

"From a position of barely mentioning Wallace and Taylor, except in a bad light, it seems funny the News would devote so much space to the signers of the Wallace petition unless they hoped to discredit the march of people toward Wallace and peace. x x x

"Trusting you will print this in The Sunday Times, I remain,

"CLAIR R. MEASE,
"23 Mary Street."

Native Holland Resident Visiting Son Here Thinks U. S. "Marvelous"

It was a happy Mother's Day at 40 Grant Street, Cresaptown, Sunday, as Mrs. Trijntje Vandenberg, a native of Groninden, Holland, visited her son and family.

Mrs. Vandenberg has been in the United States for a little over two weeks and is excited about the greatness of the country. According to her son, Dirk, she didn't think Holland was so "small." Although she hasn't been visiting too much, Mrs. Vandenberg thinks the United States is "marvelous" and especially likes the mountains, somewhat of a treat for her since Holland is such a flat country.

Mrs. Vandenberg's son, Dirk, is presently employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and likes his work very much and he too enjoys the mountains and streams, even though he has been here for some time.

The visitor from Holland has three sons and one daughter, all residents of Holland. Her husband was hit in the leg with a German rifle bullet during the last war and died later in a hospital.

The Cresaptown son married the former Miss Mary Pagenhardt, Westernport, on January 25 after he had met her aboard a Dutch Merchant ship when he was serving as the ship engineer. Mrs. Vandenberg was an Army nurse at the time and they struck up a romance, which finally ended in marriage. To add to the enjoyment of married life, a son, Jan Stephen, was born in a Cumberland hospital and at the present he is the "apple of his grandmother's eye."

The gray-haired elder Vandenberg mother has had a slight accident since coming here, as her head hit the windshield of a car in which she was riding. Everything is reported under control and nothing can stop her from having a good time until June 11, at which time she will bid farewell to the Cumberland area and depart for Holland.

It Costs Extra To Tear Up Tickets

Floyd Umstott, Short Gap, W. Va., got a ticket for illegal parking Saturday afternoon. That would have cost him the usual $1. Police said Umstott didn't pay the $1.

Consequences: Umstott was taken to police headquarters and required to post $5 bond. Apparent cost of tearing up a ticket—$4.

Lt. Van said Sullivan then proceded to Hay Street with Harshberger in pursuit. As Sullivan approached the home of Helen G. Sathoff he lost control of his car, Lt. Van said.

The vehicle, police said, careened against the side of the house tearing a door from the hinges and breaking a corner off the house. Lt. Van said Sullivan began to run from the scene of the accident but was apprehended by two witnesses who held him until police arrived.

Sullivan posted $39.90 on the two charges and will be given a hearing this morning.

Mothers Honored In Ceremonies At Moose Home

Governor Charles E. Pettie of Cumberland Lodge 270, Loyal Order of Moose, gave the welcoming address, and awards were presented to mothers in the area.

Rev. Keesecker emphasized the importance of the role of the mother in today's civilization, using as an example the Bible story of how Moses was saved and prepared for his life work through the faith and courage of his mother.

Rev. Keesecker added that much of the credit due the mother in a family goes to the father. He outlined the importance of the mother's examples to her children, adding that the character and qualities of the mother are reflected in the child.

TWUA Officials Say Executive Misquoted

A release from the main office of the Textile Workers Union of America, just received locally, says that the recent convention speech of George Baldanzi, executive vice president of the organization, was misquoted in the press.

According to news items from various newspapers and wire services, Baldanzi was quoted as exhorting the workers to violence in the CIO's Southern Organizing Campaign, the TWUA said. This was branded false by the TWUA, as Baldanzi spoke of violence against the union and not of the union as was reported in the country's press.

Trusted Trustie Trusted No More

A prisoner who is serving a 30-day jail sentence in Allegany County Jail on a charge of being drunk was arrested Saturday on a charge of being drunk, authorities said. They gave this explanation:

Calvin Miller, this city, began serving a 30-day jail sentence April 17 after being convicted on an habitual drunk charge. After a time in the county jail he was made a trustie. Then he became an "outside trustie."

Acting in the capacity of an "outside trustie" Miller was given money Saturday and sent to town to buy cigarets "and other things" that the inmates wanted.

It wasn't too much later that city police arrested Miller in Riverside Park — minus the money and the packages.

Miller did have something though. Police called it the effects of alcohol. He was taken to city jail and then returned to the county jail. Authorities said he was sober again last night, but the trusted position is his no longer.
